5TH GEN JET HITS AIR POCKET AS GE TRIPLES ENGINE PRICE

JAVARIA RANA @ New Delhi

NEGOTIATIONS to procure GE F414 engines that would power India's fifth-generation Advanced Medium Combat Aircraft (AMCA) have hit a wall with the US aerospace giant seeking a whopping 300% increase in prices than earlier estimates, sources said.

According to sources, the F414 engine was estimated to cost ₹70-80 crore per unit but GE is now quoting prices that are three times higher.

Technical negotiations for F414 engines have already been completed but commercial discussions to fix engine price, technology transfer and manufacturing arrangements are now stuck, putting both costs and timelines of the flagship fighter programme at risk.

The setback comes at a time when Pakistan is reportedly moving closer to inducting China's J-35 stealth fighter, which could introduce 5th gen combat aircraft into the region before the AMCA enters service.

The indigenous fifth-generation stealth fighter is expected address the Indian Air Force's squadron shortfall. The IAF currently operates 29 fighter squadrons against a sanctioned strength of 42.5. The AMCA prototype programme requires 15 F414 engines. India has approved ₹15,000 crore for five flying prototypes. The F414 is also slated to power Tejas Mk-2 and Twin Engine Deck-Based Fighter (TEDBF), taking the projected requirement to 200 engines.

"The company knows the programme is built around the F414 and that changing engines now would be extremely difficult. That gives GE significant leverage during commercial negotiations," a source said.

Sources further said GE has sought around ₹6,000 crore for setting up a dedicated F414 assembly and manufacturing line in India, which would cater to future requirements of the Tejas Mk-2, initial AMCA production batches and the TEDBF.

It is learnt that Indian negotiators are now considering the option of reducing the initial order quantity to ease the immediate financial burden.

"The F414 has already been factored into the design and development plans for the AMCA Mk-1 as well as the Tejas Mk-2. Any new engine would require fresh integration, software work, testing and certification," a source said.

"The AMCA design has been frozen. If another engine is eventually selected, it will have to be adapted to the aircraft's existing configuration rather than the aircraft being redesigned around the engine."

The F414 was selected for the AMCA Mk-1 because it is a proven engine already powering several frontline fighter aircraft. Generating around 98 kN of thrust, the engine is seen as a critical component of India's future combat aircraft plans. The AMCA Mk-2 is slated to be powered by a more powerful 110-120 kN class engine being developed through an international partnership.

Manufacturer's leverage

GE knows AMCA is built around the F414. Changing it at this stage would be difficult. That gives it leverage for negotiations

F414 engine was initially estimated to cost around ₹ 70-80 cr per unit

GE has now quoted prices almost 300%

Passport travel document, not proof of citizenship, says MEA

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

A passport is a travel document and not proof of citizenship, External Affairs Ministry officials said on Wednesday. "The passport remains a travel document, and not a document of citizenship, as it attests the nationality of Indians when they are abroad," the officials sought to explain. A passport is among the accepted documents for the controversial Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of electoral rolls.

The ministry's statement triggered debate on social media over what constitutes a conclusive proof of citizenship, an issue that remains a grey area as it has not been explicitly addressed by the Centre.

Section 6(2)(a) of the Passport Act 1967 requires the issuing authority to refuse a passport if the applicant is not a citizen of India. It reads: "Subject to the other provisions of this Act, the passport authority shall refuse to issue a passport or travel document for visiting any foreign country under clause (c) of sub-section (2) of section 5 on any one or more of the following grounds, and on no other ground, namely:--(a) that the applicant is not a citizen of India."

Officials said, "a passport is issued after a lot of due diligence, and it is based on documents from several government agencies." A total of 14.7 million e-passports have been issued since the chip-based documents were rolled out last year as part of the revamped Passport Seva Programme, according to the officials. The e-passports, which contain an embedded antenna and a radio frequency identification (RFID) chip storing personal particulars and biometric data, account for around 10% of all passports issued so far.

THE Enforcement Directorate (ED) on Wednesday conducted simultaneous raids at multiple locations linked to Belagavi Additional Excise Commissioner Y Manjunath, who is the brother-in-law of Public Works Minister Satish Jarkiholi, over an alleged disproportionate assets and money laundering case.

The central agency conducted coordinated searches at six locations across the state, including Belagavi, Bengaluru, Mysuru, Tumakuru and Arsikere. The officials are scrutinising documents, financial records and property-related transactions that were unravelled during the raids.

Among the premises searched were Manjunath's residence in Belagavi's TV Centre area, his apartment in the Race Course Road locality in Bengaluru, his friend Yamuna's house in Mysuru, a close associate's residence in Arsikere and properties linked to acquaintances in Ainapur village of Athani taluk and other locations. CONTINUED ON: P7

AFTER 7 YEARS

China trade via Lipulekh from tomorrow

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

THE India-China border trade through the Lipulekh pass will resume on June 26 after nearly seven years, in a significant economic and strategic development for Uttarakhand's frontier region. For the first time, Indian border traders will be able to travel by road in vehicles up to areas close to the Lipulekh Pass.

The Lipulekh Pass was closed in 2020

The local administration has received an encouraging response, with 103 applications submitted for trade permits this year. In the first phase, 26 trade passes have been issued, including those for 17 traders and nine assistants. A customs office and other essential arrangements have also been made operational at Gunji.

"After verification of the remaining applications, 25 to 30 more passes are likely to be issued in the next two to three days," Dharachula Sub Divisional Magistrate Ashish Joshi told this newspaper. Trade via this route was halted in 2019-2020 due to Covid-19 and border tensions. The revival of trade is expected to provide a major boost to generate local jobs and support small businesses.

BESCOM TO BRING BIG BUCKS TO GOVT FROM POWER CONNECTIONS

₹1094cr to be raised as state gives 15 days for consumers without OCs to get connections

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

DURING the next fortnight, the state government would earn Rs 1094.27 crore from consumers getting permanent electricity connections without applying for occupancy certificates.

Making an exemption to a Supreme Court order, the state government on June 22 announced that consumers are given 15 days to seek permanent power connections without occupancy certificates. This is, however, for buildings constructed on or before May 31, 2026, measuring 2,400 sqft (with 20% deviation), having ground plus three floors (G+3) or stilt parking plus four floors (S+4).

According to data shared by the energy department, around 3.65lakh consumers across the state are awaiting permanent electricity connection as they have not received occupancy certificate because of deviation in construction. They have been using temporary power connections. Of these customers, one-third are under the Bangalore Electricity Supply Company Limited limits alone.

The government had stopped accepting applications from April 4, 2025, following Supreme Court orders.

Explaining the math, an official from the department said, as per rules, all those applying for electricity connections need to have smart meters, which cost Rs 4,988 for a 3 kilowatt (KW) power consumed by an average 2-3 bedroom-hall-kitchen (BHK) residential unit. If a household consumes over 5 kw power and has solar panels installed, they need to install a three-phase smart meter which costs Rs 9,880. Electricity supply companies (escoms)also take Rs 820 as a standard calculation fee for the installation and maintenance of smart metres, the official said.

The consumer also has to pay Rs 13,500 as deposit, which includes an average of two months bill as advance. They also have to pay Rs 10,500 as line service charges. This comprises electrical infrastructure (cables, conductor and transformer usage charges) provided by escoms.

A 2,400 sqft space with 20% deviation measures to 2,888 sqft. This will house around 5-6 units. So each building will need an equal number of smart meters.

Though consumers use temporary power connections, they will have to take a fresh form for permanent power connection which costs Rs 100, the official said. "The cost is not just a one-time earning for the government, but the amount which will be utilised to improve electrical infrastructure in the state. These are essential charges which consumers have to pay for the services," the official said.

BESCOM OFFICES TO REMAIN OPEN EVEN ON HOLIDAYS

The Bangalore Electricity Supply Company Ltd (BESCOM) on Wednesday announced that all its offices will remain open on all days of the 15-day window to accept applications for permanent power connections without occupancy certificates. The order was issued on June 22 and the deadline ends on July 6. During the period, there are four holidays, including public holidays and Sundays. These are June 26 (Muharram), June 27 (fourth Saturday), June 28 (Sunday) and July 5 (Sunday). The offices will remain open even on these days.

Campaign from July 1 to make city's footpath safe

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

BENGALURU Development Minister Krishna Byre Gowda said of 1,000 road accidents reported in Bengaluru, 30% of the fatalities are pedestrians, and such deaths can be prevented through safe footpaths.

To this end, a 'Safe Footpath Campaign' will be launched after July 1 and works worth Rs 70 crore will be taken up under the initiative, the minister told reporters after holding a meeting to review the status and encroachment of footpath. Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA) Chief Commissioner M Maheshwar Rao, commissioners of five city corporations, Joint Commissioner of Traffic Police Karthik Reddy and other senior officials attended the meeting.

Gowda said the funds will be used to repair about 2,000 km of footpaths under the jurisdiction of five corporations. "Necessary repair works, including slabs, kerb stones, and level differences, have been instructed to be carried out quickly."

The minister stressed that footpaths are the property of about 1.5 crore people in the city, and shop owners should not encroach on footpaths. "The construction of safe footpaths has been a long-standing demand of the people. Everyone should respect the Supreme Court order and cooperate in clearing encroachments," he said.

The Supreme Court has clarified that walking on footpaths is a fundamental right of every citizen and has directed local bodies of all states to implement it.

Pushcarts not allowed on footpaths of major roads

From July 1, pushcarts will not be allowed on footpaths of arterial, sub-arterial and major roads. If the rules are violated, the pushcarts will be seized and a fine will be imposed. He said trade can be carried out only in permitted areas. The minister directed urgent repair work at important junctions/signals in the city. It has also been advised to remove unnecessary humps from near signals.

"The work of clearing encroachments on footpaths will be carried out effectively across the city. Many shops are placing their goods, name boards and other items on footpaths, causing inconvenience to the public. Therefore, shop owners are being given an opportunity to voluntarily clear the encroachments till July 1. If the encroachment continues even after that, the corporation will clear it and impose a heavy fine as per the rules," he said.

The minister warned that if vehicles are parked on footpaths in violation of the Supreme Court order, they will be towed away.

"From July 1, officials have been instructed to affix notice stickers to vehicles parked on the roadside across the city. A 7-day period will be provided after affixing the stickers. If the vehicles are not removed even after this, they will be towed and auctioned from July 10," he said.

BNCC approaches cyber police against crematorium slot middlemen, websites

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Bengaluru North City Corporation (BNCC) has filed a complaint with the Cyber Crime Police in Yelahanka against unauthorised websites, intermediaries and individuals collecting excess fee to book funeral service slots.

BNCC appealed citizens not to approach any unauthorised websites, agents or intermediaries to book slots at crematoriums, but to use only official online platforms of the Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA).

"BNCC operates two electric crematoriums. It has come to notice that certain unauthorised websites and intermediaries are collecting excess charges from the public to book crematorium slots at Chirashanthidhama electric crematorium, Hebbal Kempapura, and Muktidhama electric crematorium, Medi Agrahara. GBA has officially fixed the cremation charge at Rs 250 for services at these electric crematoriums. BNCC appeals to the public to remain vigilant against such fraudulent activities and to immediately report any suspicious incidents to the corporation or the Cyber Crime Police," said a senior electrical engineer from BNCC.

BMRCL says third rail misalignment hit Purple Line services

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE major disruption on the Purple Line of Namma Metro on Tuesday evening was caused by a misalignment in the third rail system, an incident that Bengaluru Metro Rail Corporation Ltd (BMRCL) officials described as unprecedented in the Metro's 16 years of operations.

Metro services on the underground section came to a complete standstill on Tuesday evening, affecting operations for nearly five hours. Full restoration of services was done almost 10 hours later, with normal operations resuming at 5 am on Wednesday.

According to a senior BMRCL official, a component in the third rail system, which supplies power to trains, had come out of alignment, resulting in the train being immobilised.

BMRCL took a power shutdown around 9 pm and completed restoration work by 11 pm. However, inspections and trial runs were conducted overnight before passenger services resumed on Wednesday morning.

He also said they were surprised by the incident, noting that the third rail system, which powers trains across the Metro network, is considered a highly robust and reliable system.

"We are also surprised as to why this happened because such an incident should not have occurred in the first place. This is one of a kind and detailed technical investigations are under way to ascertain the exact reasons," the official said.

The official added that maintenance of the third rail system is carried out regularly, either every week or once in 15 days, and that scheduled inspections are never missed. Multiple departments are currently examining the incident to determine its root cause.

Amid concerns raised by commuters, BMRCL assured passengers that established evacuation procedures are in place in the event of trains getting stranded inside tunnels as passenger safety the priority. BMRCL is expected to complete a detailed technical investigation into the incident in the coming days.

Chief Minister DK Shivakumar inaugurates Bengaluru Golf Club's 150th anniversary celebrations on Wednesday

CM wants club to set up new golf course on 200 acres in next 5 years

Chief Minister D K Shivakumar on Wednesday urged the Bengaluru Golf Club to develop another golf course in the city, saying the club's 150-year legacy would be more meaningful if it helped create new sporting infrastructure for future generations. Speaking at the club's 150th anniversary celebrations, Shivakumar said Bengaluru should have had three or four golf courses by now and questioned why this had not taken place despite the city having influential industrialists. He urged the club to identify around 200 acres of land and work towards establishing a new golf course within the next five years. ENS

₹2.7cr per acre for Devanahalli land acquisition

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Land Price Determination Advisory Committee has recommended a compensation of Rs 2.70 crore per acre for acquisition of 120 acres of land in Gokarebacchenahalli and Hyadala villages of Channarayapatna hobli in Devanahalli taluk, for industrial development.

The recommendation was made during a joint meeting of officials and landowners, chaired by AN Raghunandan, Special Deputy Commissioner, Karnataka Industrial Areas Development Board (KIADB), at Aravinda Bhavan on Wednesday.

Raghunandan told the meeting that the compensation proposal would now be placed before the KIADB for approval. He said farmers who do not wish to opt for monetary compensation can instead choose to receive 10,781 sqft of developed land in the industrial area for every acre of agricultural land acquired.

According to officials, the compensation package recommended is the highest ever offered in Devanahalli region, reflecting the government's commitment to ensuring fair compensation for affected farmers while facilitating industrial growth.

Notorious criminal with 67 cases held for house-break theft

BENGALURU: The Banaswadi police have arrested a 38-year-old notorious criminal in connection with a house-breaking theft case involving theft of Rs 10,000. The accused had 67 criminal cases, including murder, attempt to murder, dacoity, theft and other offences, in Bengaluru, Kolar, and Yadgir districts. He had been absconding and failed to appear before the courts in 39 non-bailable warrant cases and five proclamation cases. The police said that the accused, Syed Abrar, a resident of Yellareddy Circle in Kadugodi, had committed the theft at a house located on 9th D Cross, HRBR Layout, on March 15. The complainant, Dr Padmalatha S Kadamba (50), had left for Mangaluru on March 14 and returned to the city on March 23. Upon her return, she found that the accused had broken the terrace door and stolen Rs 10,000 from the cupboard. Abrar was apprehended near Bagalur on June 16, the police said. ENS

Four held for rehab centre owner's murder

BENGALURU: Chandra Layout police have arrested four people in connection with the murder of the owner of a rehabilitation centre. All four were undergoing treatment at the centre. The accused, who wanted to escape from the centre because of the harsh treatment by its owner Shivalingaiah, had attacked him and fled. The accused told police that their motive was not to kill Shivalingaiah, but to escape from the centre. Shivalingaiah of New Life Rehab Centre on Railway Parallel Road in Deepanjali Nagar was murdered last Friday around 1.30pm. The accused have been identified as Naveen, Chetan, Karthik and Suhail Pasha. They have been remanded in police custody for seven days. On Friday, the accused volunteered to paint a building of the centre. When they were painting the building, Shivalingaiah is alleged to have abused them. The accused, who were already frustrated over the ill treatment by Shivalingaiah, attacked him with an iron rod and stabbed him many times with a knife. They had also attacked Prashanth, an employee at the centre. Efforts are to trace the other accused in the case. ENS

Mother ruined my life, says triple murder main accused

Shwetha held from Puducherry, hunt on to nab her BF Kenneth

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE KR Puram police, who are investigating the triple murder of a couple and their 19-year-old daughter, have reportedly arrested the main accused, the couple's elder daughter, 24-year-old S Shwetha, near the Puducherry railway station. The search for her 26-year-old boyfriend, Kenneth, is still on.

The accused went to the residence of Kenneth's friend in HAL, and from there they escaped on a two-wheeler. The duo are said to have gone to Thiruvannamalai in Tamil Nadu, and since the bike encountered a mechanical problem, Kenneth sent Shwetha in a bus towards Puducherry.

Initially, the accused planned to go either by bus or by train, but Kenneth feared that the passengers might hear when he tried to console her.

Shwetha claimed that she has no idea about Kenneth's whereabouts. Six teams have been formed to search for the accused across Tamil Nadu.

Soma Sundar, Muthulakshmi and Supriya

Shwetha has reportedly told police that she was frustrated with her parents. "I was neither allowed to do anything on my own nor was I allowed to be free. My life was ruined by my mother," she told the police. The police have also found a diary, said to be of Shwetha, in which she has scribbled that she was lonely, sad and depressed as her relationship with Kenneth was strongly opposed by her parents.

She has further claimed that when she killed her mother, Kenneth was in the room using headphones.

Only after the murder, he helped to pull the body inside the washroom and to clean the blood stains. When Muthulakshmi's phone went unanswered, her husband Soma Sundar and daughter Supriya came in search. When Surpriya started looking for her mother, she killed her by stabbing, and she only killed her father when he came to the flat, Shwetha confessed.

Sundar's statements to the police, recorded just minutes before his death, are expected to be crucial evidence against the accused, officials said. In his statement, Sundar alleged that Kenneth attacked them with a knife.

Investigators found that both Kenneth and Shwetha had recently quit their jobs at a private firm and were planning to start a venture. Shwetha had reportedly taken loans worth around Rs 30 lakh, and loan default notices were being sent to her parents' Whitefield residence.

It may be recalled that 52-year-old Sundar, a software engineer, his wife, 48-year-old Muthulakshmi and their daughter Supriya, 19, were murdered at Shwetha's apartment in Seegehalli on Monday. The KR Puram police have registered a case.

Notices issued to 133 Jan Aushadhi Kendras

BENGALURU: The Karnataka Drugs Control Department issued show-cause notices to 133 Pradhan Mantri Jan Aushadhi Kendras across the state after a two-day inspection drive uncovered multiple violations, including the stocking and sale of medicines not permitted under the Jan Aushadhi scheme. The inspections were carried out at 172 Jan Aushadhi Kendras following complaints from chemist associations alleging that some Centres were violating the terms of their agreement with the Pharmaceuticals and Medical Devices Bureau of India (PMBI), the agency that implements the Pradhan Mantri Bhartiya Janaushadhi Pariyojana (PMBJP). Speaking to TNIE, the state's Additional Drugs Controller, Dr Umesh S, said of the 172 centres inspected, 133 were found to have committed various violations. Around 83 centres were specifically found stocking branded medicines in addition to medicines approved under the PMBI list. The centres will be given 15 days to respond to the notices. ENS

Youth held for robbing ex-govt staff

A 24-year-old man was arrested by the Yeshwanthpur police for allegedly robbing a retired government employee of a 15-gram gold chain, mobile phone and gold ring worth Rs 2.2 lakh after assaulting him and snatching his walking stick near the Yeshwanthpur Railway Station on June 14.

The accused, Amar BC, who hails from Kolar, works as a sales executive in a telecom company. The police said the victim was staying at a lodge near the railway station on June 13 as he was travelling to Rajasthan to attend an event. While he went for a walk near the lodge at night, Amar approached him, snatched his walking stick, allegedly assaulted him, and robbed him of valuables.

A robbery case was registered at the Yeshwanthpur police station and within 24 hours of the crime, Amar was apprehended near a lodge in Hoskote. During questioning, he confessed to the robbery as well as his involvement in another house-breaking theft case registered at the Yeshwanthpur police station, the police said. In another incident, the Jnanabharathi police arrested a man for allegedly robbing a motorist of a 15 gm gold chain and a mobile worth Rs 1.70 lakh after seeking a ride near Sonnenahalli.

Elderly man didn't kill wife, she died of heart attack, say police

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE alleged murder and suicide case of a 77-year-old woman and her 85-year-old husband at their son's flat in Sampigehalli has taken an interesting turn. The woman is said to have died of a heart attack. Upset over his wife's death, the Octogenarian had died by suicide. Earlier, it was suspected that the woman was murdered by her husband.

However, senior police officials said that the postmortem report has not yet come, and only after going through the report, the cause of the woman's death be confirmed.

The deceased are Shivanandan Prasad and his wife, Sumitra Devi. Sumitra was reportedly suffering from eye and ear-related issues while her husband was suffering from heart ailments.

They had come to their son Kiran Kumar Kashyap's flat in the city a few days back. Kashyap, who is presently working as a senior supervisor in a security agency, was staying with his wife, daughter and son. Kashyap's wife and son had gone out of station for a kin's wedding.

The bodies of the aged couple were found in the room on Tuesday morning, around 6 am, by their son.

It was suspected that Prasad, after smothering his wife to death, had died by suicide by hanging from the window grills. However, it is said that Devi had died of a heart attack and, upset over her death, Prasad took the extreme step. The bodies were shifted for the postmortem.

Postmortem report has not yet come, and only after going through the report, the cause of the woman's death be confirmed

K'taka to implement Centre's new rural job scheme from July 1

Focus will be on protecting interests of rural families, women, vulnerable sections, despite increased cost to state exchequer, says Khandre

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka government will roll out the revamped version of the Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Act (MGNREGA), now rechristened Viksit Bharat-Guarantee for Rozgar and Ajeevika Mission (Gramin) (VB-G RAM G), from July 1, even as it places a significantly higher financial burden on the state.

Karnataka Rural Development and Panchayat Raj Minister Eshwar B Khandre announced that the scheme will be implemented from the scheduled date with a focus on protecting the interests of rural families, women, and vulnerable sections, despite the increased cost to the state exchequer.

Under the previous UPA-era arrangement, the Centre bore 90% of the wage cost while states contributed only 10%. However, the new guidelines mandate a 60:40 sharing ratio, "unfairly" increasing the burden on states, he said. "This is a major additional load on the state," Khandre said, adding that between 2006 and 2026, the Centre contributed Rs 56,492 crore under MGNREGA in Karnataka, while the state had spent only Rs 4,821 crore and generated around 18.2 crore person-days of employment. Under the new arrangement, the state will now have to bear Rs 3,806 crore in a single year.

The minister criticised the Centre for introducing the new law without adequately consulting the states. "In a federal system, states should have been taken into confidence. We are opposing this and the matter is also being challenged in the Supreme Court," he added.

The State Government will take steps to safeguard the livelihood of over 7,000 contractual staff currently working under MGNREGA

Eshwar B Khandre, RDPR Minister

Khandre said the Centre has allocated Rs 5,709 crore to Karnataka under the new scheme, requiring the state to contribute Rs 3,806 crore. He noted that Chief Minister DK Shivakumar has already given his approval for the state's share following a request from the department.

Khandre also opposed the Centre's directive not to provide employment for 60 days during the agricultural season, calling it "anti-farmer" and "unscientific". "With modern farm machinery now in use, rural families get very little agricultural work even during the farming season. This move is like snatching away food from the poor," he said.

Khandre added that the state will raise all these concerns at a meeting of Rural Development Ministers from across the country scheduled in Delhi on June 28. He said the key demands are to continue the 90:10 cost-sharing ratio or at least maintain a minimum 80:20 ratio, provide employment on a demand basis and increase the minimum wage at the Central level to match the state's revised wage of Rs 375 per day.

The minister said the state is prepared to provide employment to anyone who demands it under the new scheme from July 1.

Karnataka has set an ambitious annual target of 9 crore person-days, with a monthly target of 80-90 lakh person-days.

In the last three months, the state has already generated 1.40 lakh person-days. Khandre also assured that the government would take steps to safeguard the livelihood of over 7,000 contractual staff currently working under MGNREGA.

KARNATAKA Chief Minister DK Shivakumar on Wednesday directed officials to prepare a slum redevelopment model on the lines of Mumbai and submit a report before the next Cabinet meeting on how slums in the state can be developed better. He also expressed displeasure over the slow pace of rural housing construction and site allotments.

Chairing a progress review meeting of the Housing Department in Bengaluru on Wednesday, the CM directed the officials concerned to construct houses with larger built-up areas than those provided in Mumbai. He told them to visit Mumbai and study its slum redevelopment model, and to submit a report before the next Cabinet meeting on how Karnataka can implement an even better model.

Further, Shivakumar said that every poor family deserves a roof over its head and instructed officials to prioritise the construction of houses and distribution of sites to eligible beneficiaries. He also ordered the officials to discontinue the housing allotment auction system and instead adopt a transparent public lottery process. Questioning the effectiveness of auctions, he asked whether such allotments benefit deserving applicants or only those with financial resources.

Shivakumar also stressed that all housing projects must have proper planning before implementation and warned against constructing houses without ensuring demand. He also directed officials to focus on providing basic infrastructure and connectivity, along with housing.

Reviewing Karnataka Housing Board projects, he said that 568 projects had been approved, of which 280 had been implemented, while 288 are pending. He instructed the officials to remove technical hurdles delaying these projects and prevent any misuse.

The Chief Minister also directed that the responsibility for constructing Rajiv Gandhi Housing Scheme houses in Shivarama Karanth Layout be handed over to the Bengaluru Development Authority (BDA).

Expressing concern over long-pending housing applications, Shivakumar said many applicants, who had paid deposits years ago, were still waiting for houses. He directed the officials to expedite allotments and assured that he would speak to the MLAs to obtain beneficiary lists at the earliest."Owning a house is the dream of every poor and middle-class family. Applicants should not be made to wait indefinitely. Complete the allotment process at the earliest," he said.

Don't entertain lobbying by aspirants: Brass to CM

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

THE buzz that the Congress high command has instructed Karnataka Chief Minister DK Shivakumar not to entertain lobbying of any kind by ministerial aspirants has come as a shock to over 60 MLAs aspiring to make it to the state cabinet during its expansion that is likely to happen in the first week of July.

There are 20 ministerial posts vacant in the Shivakumar cabinet. Shivakumar was sworn in as CM along with 13 legislators as ministers on June 3.

"To avoid any embarrassment to the party and the State Government, the Congress high command on Wednesday gave a series of instructions to Shivkumar on lobbying by aspirants," an informed source told The NewIndian Express.

The source, however, did not confirm who called Shivakumar over phone and gave the instructions.

The source noted that in the recent past, several protests by supporters seeking cabinet posts for their leaders, lobbying by religious heads and swamijis and meetings by several camps have been widely reported in the media, embarrassing the party.

The source said the Congress top brass will decide on the expansion at an appropriate time. "There will be zero tolerance towards those lobbying for ministerial berths. Any kind of unwanted developments in this regard will be seriously viewed by the party," sources privy to the phone conversation said. The Chief Minister was also told not to entertain groups of leaders, MLAs and MLCs coming in batches seeking a place in the cabinet, sources added.

"Former ministers Dr HC Mahadevappa and BZ Zameer Ahmed Khan had allegedly sponsored protests by their supporters to exert pressure on the party high command. This triggered others to protest as well, and it turned out to be mass hysteria. The supporters of Ron MLA GS Patil had even taken out a padayatra from Siddaganga Mutt to Bengaluru, who were stopped at Nelamangala. However, they congregated at the Congress office, following which Shivakumar addressed them. Indi MLA Yasvant Rayagouda Patil's supporters had also staged a demonstration outside the CM's residence," a party insider told The New Indian Express.

Recently, the religious heads of over 200 dargahs met Shivakumar, demanding that MLC Saleem Ahmed, who hails from the Kittur Karnataka region, be made a minister.

Former ministers Dr HC Mahadevappa and K Venkatesh, and MLAs Hamapangouda Badarli and AS Ponnanna have accompanied Siddaramaiah to Kochi, where they are staying at a resort belonging to Energy Minister KJ George. This has added to the theory that the Siddaramaiah camp might have discussed a strategy to exert pressure on the high command to take more of their MLAs into the cabinet, sources added.

But Shivakumar, who tasted his first electoral success as Chief Minister in the recent MLC polls, is likely to have an upper hand in the cabinet expansion.

KPCC chief compares Modi-Shah to Ghazni

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Hubballi

IN a scathing attack on BJP over alleged misappropriation of funds donated by devotees to Ram Temple at Ayodhya, Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) president and senior Congress MLC BK Hariprasad asked, "What is the difference between the Modi-Shah duo and Mahmud Ghazni, who had plundered the temples by raiding the country 17 times?"

Attacking BJP for dividing regional parties, he said that when Congress was in power, several regional parties flourished and got entrenched in the imagination of the people. However, after BJP came to power, it has been decimating regional parties. BJP has been pushing the country towards one-party rule, but their plot will not succeed as Congress will foil any such bid, he added. On the government being adamant on the Bidadi Township project, he clarified that if the majority of farmers are against it, the government will not go ahead. But, he quickly added, as per the amendment brought to the Land Acquisition Act by the UPA government in 2013, farmers will get three times the market value.

On party MLAs protesting for ministerial berths, he said these were not protests but an expression of their rightful claim and desire. Until they seek anything within the party framework, the party will not act against them, he said. He said the party has not thought of moving a no-confidence motion against Council Chairman Basavaraj Horatti for his removal. However, with the change in the party's strength in the Council, a decision will be taken at the legislators' party meeting, he added.

BIDADI ROW

Own only 32 acres, not 100: Anitha

ENS @ Bengaluru/Vijayapura

FORMER MLA Anitha Kumaraswamy, wife of Union Minister for Steel and Heavy Industries HD Kumaraswamy, has refuted claims that her family owns 100 acres of land, stating that the land registered in her name is only 32 acres.

Responding to remarks attributed to Industries Minister MB Patil amid the ongoing political row over the proposed Bidadi township project, Anitha said dragging family members into political disputes and spreading false information was inappropriate. "The land in my name is 32 acres, not 100 acres as stated by Minister Patil. Dragging family members into political malice and spreading falsehoods does not befit anyone," she added.

Meanwhile, Industries Minister MB Patil defended the proposed Bidadi Township project and accused opposition leaders of politicising the issue for political gains. He told reporers in Vijayapura that the project was initiated in 2006 when former Chief Minister HD Kumaraswamy was heading the State Government.

After vote & seat thefts, BJP swallowing political parties, says Meenakshi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AICC Telangana in-charge Meenakshi Natarajan, whose nomination to Rajya Sabha from Madhya Pradesh was rejected recently, came down heavily on the BJP alleging that the saffron party has graduated from "vote theft, seat theft to parties' theft".

"It is not only vote chori and seat chori, but also moving towards party theft. A country is moving towards one party. That is why Rahul Gandhi has spoken about the fight (against BJP)," she told reporters at KPCC office in Bengaluru.

She alleged that the BJP was poaching opposition MPs into the NDA fold to attain a two-third majority in the Lok Sabha to pass certain Bills like the Constitution (131st Amendment) Bill, 2026, to go ahead with delimitation of constituencies and increase the number of seats.

"They worked to stop people from even contesting... they did that in local body elections, but now also in Rajya Sabha elections. And now, they are swallowing political parties one after another," she said.

"So, in a way, do they want to move towards a 'One Nation, One Party' system? Or do they want to make up the numbers- since their bill was previously rejected on the constitutional floor of the House and want to fulfil that shortfall? And that is why the conspiracy and plot they are hatching to finish off political parties one after another is right before us," she said, adding that this was the BJP's 'chal, charitra aur chehra' (conduct, character, and face).

She said that the opposition parties are fully aware of the BJP's designs and have to fight the battle in a powerful and robust manner.

Meenakshi also defended that there is nothing wrong in Home Minister Priyank Kharge seeking information on the registration of RSS. She recalled that India's first Deputy Prime Minister, Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel, had raised the same questions before the RSS.

She pointed out that the BJP government is the one which brought and strengthened the Foreign Contribution Regulation Act (FCRA) laws.

Kharge, Priyank usurped properties belonging to poor through trust: BJP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CONGRESS and BJP leaders in Karnataka exchanged sharp political barbs over RSS' legal status and allegations of corruption involving a family trust linked to AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge and his son, Karnataka Home Minister Priyank Kharge.

Priyank Kharge recently questioned the status of RSS' registration and its transparency, ahead of RSS chief Mohan Bhagwat's visit to Bengaluru.

In a sarcastic remark, Priyank Kharge stated that he did not know whether Bhagwat would bring the "papers on RSS registration" on his arrival. He added that he had inquired about the matter but received no response.

In response, BJP MLA Mahesh Tenginkai urged Priyank Kharge to understand the RSS better. "I want to tell Priyank that he should know once what RSS is and how it is," Tenginkai said. He described the organisation as one that has existed for 100 years and invited the minister to visit a Sangh branch for an hour to observe its work firsthand.

Tenginkai further accused critics of trying to create problems in Karnataka.

The controversy has taken a personal turn with BJP accusations against the Kharge family. BJP leaders, including national spokesperson Pradeep Bhandari, alleged that Mallikarjun Kharge, Priyank Kharge, and other family members -including senior Kharge's son-in-law and wife - are associated with the Siddhartha Vihar Trust. They claim that the trust has been used to seize control of various land parcels, including government-allotted plots, by leveraging political influence and usurping properties belonging to the poor.

Priyank Kharge has strongly denied the allegations, saying the property papers are publicly available and he is ready to discuss them on any platform. He questioned why, despite five BJP chief ministers in Karnataka and 12 years of the Modi government at the Centre, no action was taken if wrongdoing existed. "If there was wrongdoing, why am I still roaming free and not in jail," he asked.

He remarked that the BJP is "trying so hard to please the RSS" and contrasted demands for Ram Mandir accounts with questions about "Lord Buddha in Kalaburagi."

Priyank Kharge further challenged the RSS to disclose its own accounts and details, asking when its "political masters" would show their papers.

Meanwhile, a viral video featuring the purported voice of a senior BJP sitting MP has added fuel to the fire. In the video, the MP is heard describing the RSS as "dangerous" and suggesting that those who question the organisation could face serious repercussions.

I want to tell Priyank Khage that he should know once what RSS is and how it is. RSS has existed for 100 years and I invite the minister to visit a Sangh branch for an hour to observe its work firsthand

Terror suspect's phone reveals Pakistan links

Search on for nine others, say police

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Davanagere

DAVANAGERE police have recovered multiple controversial voice messages, text chats, and alleged anti-national communications from the mobile phone of Suhail (20), who was arrested in Harihar on Tuesday on suspicion of terror-related activities.

Police sources told TNIE that chats related to the Sri Ram Mandir in Ayodhya, along with other anti-national statements, have been retrieved and are currently under investigation. However, given the matter's significance to national security, the exact contents of the messages cannot be disclosed at this stage.

Upon examining the mobile of the accused, it was found that he was in contact with handlers and suspects from Pakistan and other nations through WhatsApp chats, voice messages, and various social media platforms. He was also allegedly active in online radicalisation groups. Preliminary investigations suggest that all of them were in contact with the intention of committing acts of sabotage.

Superintendent of Police Dr Shekhar HT told TNIE, "Based on a tip off provided by central and state intelligence agencies, we apprehended Suhail (20), who came from Uttar Pradesh 15 days ago and was working as a painter at Harihar. The Sub-Inspector, who was monitoring his behaviour and suspicious activities, took him into custody based on intelligence."

Police also said that a 10 individuals had arrived along with the accused, and search is on for the remaining nine. "We will investigate them and ensure that terrorist activities are rooted out," an official said. The case bears resemblance to the recent Tumakuru incident, and further investigation will reveal any possible linkages, a source added.

Expert panel formed to formulate SOP for zoo staff: CZA informs HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Wednesday disposed of a public interest litigation (PIL) filed by a wildlife conservationist. The petition sought directions to formulate and implement comprehensive safety protocols, risk assessment mechanisms, and a standard operating procedure (SOP) for the entry of zoo staff, veterinarians, zookeepers, and other personnel into animal enclosures.

The plea aimed to prevent and mitigate incidents resulting in injuries and fatalities. The court disposed of the petition after the counsel for the Central Zoo Authority (CZA) informed it that a committee of experts had been constituted to formulate an SOP. The counsel also submitted that the matter is currently under consideration by the authority.

A division bench comprising Chief Justice Vibhu Bakhru and Justice KS Hemalekha disposed of the petition. The petition had been filed by 24-year-old wildlife conservationist Bhuvan M. Bhuvan is currently pursuing an MSc in Applied Wildlife Conservation in UK university. He was represented in the case by his mother, Pushpalatha B, a resident of Mangaluru.

It was stated in the petition that the CZA, in response to the application filed under RTI, on April 20, 2026, has categorically stated that "No safety protocol document, risk assessment and SOP for staffs/veterinary/zookeeper to enter the animal enclosure for treatment, feeding, or any other necessary reason is issued by this authority". Citing the repeated incidents of death or injury including a trainee veterinarian who died in a hippo attack at Tyavarekoppa Tiger, the petitioner stated that the existing guidelines fall short of prescribing scientific and preventive safety standards.

Pregnant minor kills self, BF booked

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mangaluru

A 17-year-old girl died by suicide after her boyfriend allegedly ditched her after learning that she was pregnant. The incident occurred at Suratkal in Mangaluru on Tuesday at 4pm. The police have sent the foetus for the DNA test after the autopsy.

In her suicide note, the girl said she was in a relationship with one Aneesh Poojary and he betrayed her after she told him about pregnancy. "I made a mistake," she said in the note addressed to her parents. The girl was about two months pregnant and when she told the accused about the same, he refused to accept her and verbally abused her. As Poojary is associated with a Hindu right-wing organisation, the girl approached them for help but in vain, Mangaluru Police Commissioner Sudheer Kumar Reddy said quoting the suicide note.

The police have booked Poojary under POCSO, rape and abetment to suicide acts.

Workers oppose ₹10cr fund use for BDA plantation drive

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka State Building and Other Construction Workers' Organisations Coordination Committee opposed the proposed utilisation of Rs 10 crore from the Construction Workers' Welfare Board fund for the Bangalore Development Authority's (BDA) plantation drive scheduled on June 27.

The committee urged the Secretary and CEO of the Karnataka Building and Other Construction Workers' Welfare Board to withdraw its decision to fund the programme, under which BDA plans to plant 15 lakh native saplings in three layouts in a single day. The committee argued that the programme should be funded either by the BDA or the state exchequer and not through welfare funds meant for construction workers. The committee questioned whether the utilisation of workers' welfare funds for such a programme was permissible under the Building and Other Construction Workers Act, 1996. It pointed out that several welfare benefits, including pensions, medical assistance, scholarships, maternity benefits and death compensation, are pending due to non-release of funds.

Labour department officials informed workers that around 13,750 of them would be engaged to plant 7.5 lakh saplings in Dr Shivaram Karanth Layout and would be paid an honorarium of Rs 750 each.

Responding to the concerns, the CEO said since it was a government programme, the board was compelled to extend support. However, owing to pressure from workers' unions, the board decided to utilise only Rs 1.9 crore exclusively as honorarium for workers who would directly participate in the programme.

Public auction for KA-01/NK fancy vehicle numbers on June 29

BENGALURU: The Karnataka Transport Department announced that attractive registration numbers under the newly introduced KA-01/NK series for non-transport light motor vehicles will be allotted through a public auction on June 29. The auction will be conducted in accordance with amendments made to the Karnataka Motor Vehicles Rules, 1989, which empower the Transport Commissioner to allot choice registration numbers through an auction process when multiple applications are received for the same number. The auction will cover a range of "fancy" registration numbers, including popular combinations such as 0001, 0011, 0111, 1111, 123, 1234, 2222, 3333, 4444, 5555, 6666, 7777, 8888, 9999, 786, 8055, 9000, 9090 and other preferred numbers. The facility is available for non-transport category light motor vehicles, including privately owned cars and jeeps, registered at any Regional Transport Office. Interested applicants must submit an application along with Form-21 or invoice copy or vehicle booking receipt, full address, contact details and a demand draft of Rs 75,000 drawn in favour of the Secretary, State Transport Authority, Bengaluru. ENS

Free student bus pass refund process begins through Seva Sindhu

BENGALURU: The Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation (KSRTC) has urged students who paid for bus passes for the 2026-27 academic year to apply for refunds through the State government's Seva Sindhu portal, following the government's decision to provide free bus travel for students. The state government has announced free bus passes for all students studying in schools and colleges who travel in buses operated by the four state-run transport corporations. Students who purchased bus passes by paying the prescribed fee through the Seva Sindhu portal from May 29 onwards are eligible for a refund. To avail the refund, students must apply online by entering their mobile number and OTP on the Seva Sindhu portal. Applicants are also required to complete Aadhaar-based e-KYC and furnish either their own or their parents' bank account details. According to KSRTC, the refund amount will be credited directly to the bank account through NEFT/RTGS within seven days of submitting the application. Students will receive an SMS confirmation once the amount is credited. Transport officials clarified that students need not visit any bus pass counters or corporation offices, as the entire refund process will be carried out online. ENS

NIANP to up fat ratio in milk for better nutrition

Increase solids will help dairy farmers earn higher price for their produce, says agency

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

TO improve nutritional content of cow's milk and to help dairy farmers get better milk rates across India, the Bengaluru-based National Institute of Animal Nutrition (NIANP) is working on increasing fat content in milk. The institute has already started a study on the quality and quantity of cow milk's fat and Solid Non-Fat (SNF), which comprises lactose, protein, minerals and carbohydrates.

At the state level, NIANP has partnered with the Karnataka Milk Federation (KMF) and trials are being conducted with Kolar and Chikkaballapur milk unions – two of the five unions supplying milk to Bengaluru. Others involved are Mandya, Tumakuru and Bengaluru milk unions, besides Mother Dairy.

Dr Artabandhu Sahoo, Director, NIANP, told The New Indian Express that ideally, 100 ml of milk should comprise 13% of total solids – 4% milk fat and remaining SNF. If there is more fat in the milk, farmers get a higher price. If the milk fat is 3.8% per 100ml, a farmer gets Rs 32 per litre, and if it is 6.8%, he gets Rs 38 per litre.

The higher milk fat content is also beneficial for humans as it addresses nutritional requirements, helps maintain nutritional balance and facilitates easier absorption and digestion of vitamins A, D, E and K.

Naturally, fat content is richer in buffalo and sheep milk compared to cow's milk. To increase the fat content in cow's milk, with and without additional supplements, trials are being conducted over the last three months. It will continue for a year in all weather conditions before being implemented across the state, said a KMF official, who is part of the study. In the trials with supplements, milk fat content, cattle fertility and lactation increased.

Sahoo explained that milk fat and SNF depend on an animal's structure, agro-climate, nutritious fodder, geographic location, stress-free environment, season and weather. Rising temperatures affect milk quality, improving which is the focus of the ongoing study. The more the milk quantity, less is the natural nutritional content, and additional supplements need to be given to improve the quality.

A senior KMF official said that every day, 1.18 crore litres of milk is supplied to consumers in Karnataka. On an average, 4.2% milk fat and 8.5-8.51% SNF is maintained in milk. Toned milk has 3.5% fat and 8.5% SNF, Shubham milk has 4.5% fat and 8.5% SNF, and full cream milk has 6% fat and 9% SNF. Under Ksheera Bhagya, the state government supplies 150ml of milk to children five days a week. That milk contains 4.2% of milk fat and 8.5% SNF.

KSDC to be shut for major tech maintenance: Priyank

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka State Data Centre (KSDC), which powers a wide range of digital services offered by various state government departments, will remain temporarily shut for two days to facilitate critical technical maintenance, infrastructure upgrades and security enhancements, said IT/BT, Electronics and e-Governance Minister Priyank Kharge.

Announcing the shutdown on Wednesday, Kharge said several government web portals, citizen service platforms, online certificate services, e-Office systems and digital databases may experience temporary disruptions during the maintenance period.

Kharge also said the upgrade is essential to strengthen the state's digital governance infrastructure, improve cybersecurity, enhance server performance and raise data processing capacity in view of the growing use of digital services.

The maintenance work has been scheduled during holidays to minimise inconvenience to the public. The Minister urged citizens to cooperate, assuring that the temporary inconvenience would result in faster, safer and more reliable government services in the future.

Kudremukh's tiger census phase 1 over

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Udupi

THE first phase of tiger census held as part of the nationwide All-India Tiger Estimation-2026 (AITE-26) has been completed in Kudremukh Wildlife Division. Forest officials have submitted the data to the Wildlife Institute of India (WII) for further analysis and findings of which are awaited.

Deputy Conservator of Forests, Kudremukh Wildlife Division, Karkala, Udupi, Sivaram Babu M told The New Indian Express that it was a camera trap-based census involving more than 100 staff as part of the sixth cycle of the nationwide tiger census conducted once every four years to assess tiger population. The last census was conducted at Kudremukh Wildlife Division in 2022, and the presence of four tigers was recorded in the division.

The census was conducted covering the entire Kudremukh Wildlife Division of 1,300 sqkm. headquartered in Karkala.

Violence at Hindalco plant as worker ends life

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Belagavi

TENSION prevailed at the Hindalco plant near Belagavi city after a contract worker allegedly died by suicide on the company's premises, purportedly over disappointment arising from non-regularisation of his job and an alleged employment scam.

The deceased has been identified as Shankar Talawar (31), a resident of Mutyanatti village near the plant. According to preliminary information, Shankar had been working as a contract employee at the plant for several years.

Family members alleged that Shankar had paid Rs 5 lakh to a local agent, who had allegedly promised to secure him a permanent position in the company. However, even after nearly three years, his job was not regularised. Sources said that Shankar had repeatedly demanded either regularisation of his employment or the return of the money. However, he was allegedly denied both, leaving him distressed.

Before taking his life, Shankar allegedly left behind a WhatsApp message, expressing anguish over the changing recruitment criteria in the company and the difficulties faced by candidates possessing only SSLC and ITI qualifications. The message also reportedly contained an emotional apology to his parents.

Following the incident, a large number of villagers gathered on the company's premises and some of them allegedly vandalised company property. Police rushed to the spot and brought the situation under control.

Five of family drown in Cauvery river near Muthathi

MYSURU: Five members of the same family from Channapatna drowned in the Cauvery river near Muthathi in Malavalli taluk of Mandya district on Wednesday evening. The deceased have been identified as Chaithra (20), Shwetha (38), Vijayamma (50), Priyanka (28) and Mahesh. According to onlookers, the family had visited the Mutthettaraya Temple at Muthathi around 5pm. During their visit, they reportedly entered the Cauvery river to take photographs when the tragedy occurred. All five were swept away in the river. Personnel from the Fire and Emergency Services Department, along with the police, launched a rescue operation and later retrieved all five bodies from the river on night. Officials from the Halaguru Police Station rushed to the spot and have begun an investigation into the incident. ENS

NEET delay shifts seat allocation to round 2

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

KARNATAKA Examinations Authority executive director H Prasanna on Wednesday said owing to the delay in conducting the National Eligibility cum Entrance Test (NEET), the seat allocation for Undergraduate Common Entrance Test students in medical, dental and Ayush courses would be done in the second round.

"The process will start after the seat matrix is available from the Medical Counselling Committee and the Medical Education Department," he said. "Students who want only medical seats can wait for the second round. However, if medical seats are not available, students who want to get admission in engineering or other courses must mandatorily participate in the first round of option entry."

Students in the first round will get the opportunity to rearrange their options by adding medical options in the second round. Due to technical maintenance enhancement works at the state data centre, the KEA website will be down from 9pm on June 25 to 9pm on June 26. All online services will be suspended during this period," he said.

Under fire, Satheesan leaves low-alcohol drink decision to UDF

Rejects allegations of kickbacks behind move

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ T'Puram

AMID mounting criticism from the Opposition, community leaders and even sections within the Congress, Chief Minister V D Satheesan has softened his stance, clarifying that the final call on permitting low-alcohol beverages in the state will be taken collectively by the ruling UDF. Replying to the budget debate in the assembly on Wednesday, Satheesan said the category of low-alcohol beverages was introduced in the liquor policy by the previous LDF government and that the UDF government had only proposed a tax rate forit.

"Our government has merely fixed the tax. The liquor policy is decided by the UDF. If the front decides to permit its sale, the tax rate proposed in the budget will apply. If the UDF decides against it, there will be no sale. It is purely a political decision," he said.Rejecting allegations of a kickback behind the move, Satheesan said the process had been initiated by the previous LDF government. "Within six months of assuming office, M V Govindan, the Excise Minister in the second Pinarayi Vijayan government, took the first step. The previous government had informed the assembly that it had received an application from Bacardi India Limited and that they have amended the foreign liquor rules," he said. Satheesan said the previous LDF government had initiated steps to fix the tax rate for low-alcohol beverages based on Bacardi's request, but could not complete the process due to the assembly elections.

Dismissing allegations that the UDF government had rushed the decision, he said tax rates are routinely fixed in a time-bound manner after studying rates in other states.

As on Wednesday, 17 of those affected in the ammonia leakage are on ventilator support, 21 are receiving nasal oxygen, and 30 others are stable, a health department bulletin stated. At the RGGGH, 10 are in critical condition. A total of 13 were admitted to the hospital following the leakage, of whom three died.

PMLA PROBE

ED conducts raids at excise official's Mysuru residence

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mysuru

ENFORCEMENT Directorate (ED) officials on Wednesday conducted a raid at a residence linked to Belagavi Excise Additional Commissioner Y Manjunath in Mysuru's Dattagalli in connection with allegations of money laundering, disproportionate assets, suspected cross-border financial dealings and bribery. The raid was conducted at six locations.

The teams arrived at the Dattagalli residence around 5.30 am. Investigators are believed to be examining ownership records, financial documents and possible links between properties and individuals associated with Manjunath. They also took into custody Excise Inspector Yamuna, who was residing in the house with her mother Sulochana. The roots of the current probe can be traced back to Manjunath's tenure as the deputy commissioner of excise in Mysuru during the 2012–13 period. Even during that period, Lokayukta officials conducted raids on his properties following allegations of amassing assets disproportionate to his known sources of income and accepting large amounts of bribes for the renewal of bar licences.

Even though a departmental inquiry was initiated and was later closed, the original disproportionate assets case reportedly remained under scrutiny. Sources indicate that the agency has now reopened the financial trail emerging from those allegations and is investigating whether the assets identified during the earlier probe were linked to money laundering activities under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA).

BENAMI TRANSACTIONS, ASSETS UNDER ED LENS

YAMUNA IS an excise inspector and said to be an associate of Manjunath. The raids are linked to allegations that Manjunath amassed substantial assets through benami transactions, including investments in agricultural land, bars and restaurants. Investigators are examining whether the properties were acquired using illegally generated funds and routed through associates.

The ED teams reportedly recovered several documents during searches at the Belagavi residence and are verifying records related to land purchases, business investments and financial dealings. Documents recovered from the Bengaluru apartment, where Manjunath was reportedly staying at the time of the raids, too are being looked into. Manjunath is the son of former Ballari member of Parliament Devendrappa and has been serving as additional excise commissioner in Belagavi city for the last 11 years. The searches were conducted under provisions related to alleged money laundering and suspected accumulation of assets disproportionate to known sources of income. The high-profile raids generated significant political interest, given Manjunath's family ties to Satish Jarkiholi. On information that Manjunath allegedly transferred large sums of money to foreign countries over the last few years, ED are finding out whether those funds were invested in any projects or initiatives abroad. With the raids still going on and expected to continue over the next few days, it is believed that further revelations could emerge regarding the ownership of properties and financial transactions under scrutiny.

Devendrappa, Manjunath's father, said, "The news has come as a shock to me. I do not understand why ED conducted the raids." Satish Jarkiholi said in Belagavi that he does not have any information on the ongoing searches. "Only after the operation is completed, will we know the reasons for the raids. Until I get some information, I cannot comment," he added.

Sources said the house of a well-known builder and developer from Belagavi, said to be an associate of Manjunath, was also raided by ED officials on Wednesday. However, the details of the search operation are not known yet.

YOGI SIGNS MoUS WORTH ₹50K CR IN BENGALURU

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

UTTAR Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath on Wednesday signed 15 memoranda of understanding (MoUs) worth more than Rs 50,000 crore in Bengaluru, with a majority of the investments earmarked for setting up Global Capability Centres in the state.

Addressing a roadshow aimed at attracting investments, Adityanath said Uttar Pradesh had undergone a significant transformation over the past nine years.

"Before nine years, Uttar Pradesh was seen as a lawless state suffering from policy paralysis and misgovernance. It was known as a 'bimaru' state. Agriculture and the state economy had little hope. Today, Uttar Pradesh is no longer a 'bimaru' state," he said.

State Finance Minister Suresh Kumar Khanna echoed the Chief Minister's remarks, saying the government had worked extensively over the past decade to improve Uttar Pradesh's image among investors. "We have affordable land and a large workforce, both skilled and unskilled, which are major incentives for entrepreneurs," he said.

DELHI CRIME SHINES LIGHT ON RISING VULNERABILITY OF MIGRANT FAMILIES

DELHI'S disgraceful record as the country's rape capital came under a harsh spotlight again on Monday. A 29-year-old cab driver allegedly kidnapped an 11-year-old daughter of migrant workers while she was sleeping on a pavement in south Delhi. When the police tracked down the cab, they found that the cabbie had picked up another ride after raping and murdering the adolescent, as if it was business as usual. The accused was later shot in the leg allegedly while attempting to escape during an on-site reconstruction of events.

Apart from the national capital's grim reputation, it also brings into focus the fact that atrocities on women and children of migrant worker families are on the rise across the nation. The recent rape and death of a toddler in Tamil Nadu's Tiruvallur was another case in point, as was the rape of an underage girl in Telangana's Peddapalli district. Couple this with the fact that by the end of November 2025, there were 31.4 crore migrant workers registered on the eShram portal—and the scale of vulnerability becomes clearer. Flung far from home and often struggling to communicate across a language barrier, these builders of modern India are mostly treated as second-class citizens in their own country. The Delhi police should be commended for acting swiftly to apprehend the accused, but given that what works as deterrent is the certainty of a swift conviction, they need to exercise caution while seeing this case to its judicial conclusion.

Will public opinion flare up the way it did after the 2012 gangrape and murder of a 22-year-old physiotherapy intern not far from where the 11-year-old was abducted? That convulsion had led to amendments in criminal laws, with new offences recognised, victim protection enhanced and more stringent punishments prescribed. Will it bring people on the streets like the 2024 rape and murder of a 31-year-old physician in Kolkata's R G Kar Medical College and Hospital did? That churn ultimately contributed to the regime change in West Bengal. We do not know yet the level to which public anger will rise this time. But those who assume that their individual protests will be drowned out would do well to look back at those cases and remember what can happen when voices unite in demanding accountability. After all, there is no bigger duty than to protect the most vulnerable among us.

ROOFTOP SOLAR THRUST NEEDED FOR GREEN GOAL

A nationwide study has found that the country's rooftop solar power generation capacity is growing in a markedly lopsided manner. The Bengaluru-based Climate Compatible Futures has found that while the top three states of Gujarat, Maharashtra and Kerala have as much as 6,882 MW, 5,442 MW and 1,850 MW in installed capacities, respectively, the eastern states of Odisha, West Bengal, Jharkhand and Assam are lagging far behind, with as little as 156 MW, 67 MW, 95 MW and 344 MW.

Of India's total solar capacity of 157.04 GW, large farms account for 118.79 GW, while the grid-connected rooftop panels on buildings account for 27.88 GW, and off-grid wind-solar hybrid setups stand for 10.37 GW. The rooftop segment is seen as a crucial component of the Union government's target of installing a total solar capacity of 280 GW by 2030 and 800 GW by 2035. Its uneven growth could hobble India in its race towards the targets if the causes remain unaddressed.

The rooftop solar push is supported by national programmes like the PM Surya Ghar Muft Bijli Yojana, which provides subsidies for household installations. But subsidies alone cannot sustain the growth. They need to be supplemented by spreading awareness about the hardware and installation processes among the citizens along with the benefits of solar power over conventional sources. More Indians need to realise that a rooftop solar installation is an asset through net electricity metering, a billing mechanism that credits money to households for contributing surplus electricity to the grid.

The CCF study found that in many eastern states, the vendor base is thin, households are poorly informed about the modalities and benefits, and the financially-stressed distribution utilities are more cautious in responding to requests. These factors come in the way of popularising rooftop installations.

Meeting India's climate targets for 2035 demand economy-wide commitments such as reducing emissions by 47 percent, bringing up installed capacity from non-fossil sources to 60 percent, and scaling up the solar capacity to about 29 percent of the total to become the largest part of the clean energy mix. Helping us overcome the challenges can be a more uniform push for rooftop solar power in all states. That can happen if we see it as a key to a more sustainable future.

QUICK TAKE

MESSI vs RONALDO

THE 2026 World Cup marks the climax of several storied football careers—none more notable than those of Lionel Messi, who turned 39 on Wednesday, and Cristiano Ronaldo, who turned 41 this February. Now that they are both scoring again, the spotlight is back on their intense rivalry. Amid this, recent research led by Singapore's Nanyang Technological University's Saifuddin Ahmed suggests that global support for either of the GOATs can be correlated with the ideological leanings of fans. A survey of 10,661 respondents from 26 countries showed that liberals preferred LM10 while the more conservative respondents preferred CR7. While brand designers pore over the research to find what works for whom, those trying to promote football in India should heed that the sport cuts across ideologies and demographics.

In parliamentary democracies, candidates derive much of their legitimacy from the platforms on which they contest. Democracy suffers when people's will is weakened by large-scale party-hopping

POLITICIANS CHANGING COLOURS LEAVE PEOPLE WITHOUT POWER

MANOJ KUMAR JHA
Member of Rajya Sabha and national spokesperson, RJD

SOURAV ROY

BEGINNING with the defections of AAP Rajya Sabha MPs, followed by Trinamool Congress MPs from West Bengal and now members of the Shiv Sena (Uddhav Balasaheb Thackeray) from Maharashtra, Indian politics appears to be entering a new phase. These developments cannot be understood merely through the conventional lens of routine party-hopping. Defections have always existed in Indian politics. Governments have fallen because of them, parties have split and political loyalties have often proved more fluid than ideological commitments. What we are witnessing today seems qualitatively different. It is less an episodic phenomenon and more a systematic political project.

The public narrative surrounding these developments often celebrates the strategic brilliance of those orchestrating them. Political managers at the apex of the BJP are frequently portrayed as master tacticians, capable of expanding their party's footprint even in regions where electoral success remains difficult. Their ability to attract legislators from rival parties is presented as evidence of superior organisational capacity, political foresight and electoral acumen. In contemporary language, this is often described as successful "political management".

However, the question before us is not whether such manoeuvres are strategically effective, because they clearly are for the party causing it in the short run. The more important question is whether they strengthen or weaken the democratic character of the Republic in the longer run. Politics cannot be evaluated solely through the prism of celebrating dominance. A democracy must also be judged by the degree to which it respects and reflects the will of its citizens.

Every election represents a compact between voters and political representatives. Citizens do not merely vote for individuals; they vote for parties, programmes, alliances, ideologies and visions of governance. In parliamentary democracies, candidates derive much of their legitimacy from the political platforms on which they contest elections. When voters choose a particular party or alliance, they are expressing a preference that extends beyond the personal attributes of a candidate.

This is why large-scale defections carry consequences that extend far beyond the careers and ambitions of individual politicians. They alter the meaning of electoral outcomes without regard to the will of the people who elected them. A mandate secured under one political banner is effectively transferred to another, and the voter who believed that her vote would strengthen a particular party, ideology or alliance discovers that it has ultimately contributed to the expansion of a political formation she may have consciously sought to oppose. What was presented to the electorate at the time of the election is thus transformed after it. The electorate's judgement is effectively reinterpreted without consent, weakening the connection between popular choice and political outcome that lies at the heart of representative democracy.

The defenders of such political realignments often argue that elected representatives are free individuals and should have the liberty to change their political affiliations. In a purely legal sense, this argument has merit also because democracies cannot function through rigid coercion. Political beliefs evolve, parties change course and legislators may genuinely conclude that their interests or convictions are better served elsewhere. Yet democracy is not merely a legal arrangement. It is also a moral and political relationship between citizens and those who represent them. The question is whether the repeated and systematic reconfiguration of electoral mandates respects the spirit of democratic representation.

The frequency and scale of contemporary defections raise legitimate concerns. When isolated instances become a recurring pattern, citizens are entitled to ask whether political competition is increasingly shifting from persuading voters to acquiring elected representatives. Electoral contests are meant to be the primary mechanism through which political power changes hands. If power can be expanded significantly after elections, then the centrality of the electoral process itself begins to diminish.

Perhaps the greatest casualty is public trust. Democracy depends not only on institutions but also on the belief that participation matters, votes have meaning and electoral outcomes will broadly reflect the choices citizens make. When voters repeatedly witness elected representatives abandoning the platforms on which they sought support, cynicism inevitably deepens.

Uncomfortable questions arise. Does ideology matter? Do political promises matter? Does voting itself matter? Such doubts may not immediately threaten democratic institutions, but they gradually erode the democratic culture on which those institutions depend. Over time, this erosion weakens the legitimacy of electoral outcomes and unsettles the basic trust that gives democracy its stability. One can only hope that this chain of questioning never reaches its logical extreme.

The danger is particularly acute in a society as diverse as India. Indian democracy has historically accommodated a remarkable range of political voices, regional aspirations, linguistic identities and ideological traditions. Regional parties, in particular, have played an important role within national politics. Their rise reflected the recognition that democracy flourishes when power is dispersed rather than concentrated.

Large-scale defections can undermine this pluralistic character as they can alter the balance of political representation itself. When opposition parties are systematically depleted, electoral competition becomes less robust. Democracy requires majority governments, but it also requires strong opposition. Let us never forget that democratic decline rarely begins with the abolition of elections. More often than not, it begins with the weakening of the institutions and norms that make elections meaningful.

The issue, therefore, is not the fate of any particular party. Parties rise and fall; alliances form and dissolve. The deeper issue concerns the relationship between electoral mandates and political power. If that relationship becomes increasingly tenuous, the legitimacy of democratic governance itself may come under strain.

The recent wave of defections should prompt reflection across the political spectrum. The question is not who benefits today. The real question is what kind of democratic culture India wishes to nurture for the future. One hesitates to sound ominous, but the sense of an unsettling knock at the door is hard to ignore.

HARDER BATTLE FOR HEARTS & MINDS

KAJAL BASU
Veteran journalist

TIME was—in the 1960s and 1970s—when the world was ostensibly a socially gentler, less structured geopolitical space, where soft power was a welcoming, well-arranged library in a tony part of the central business district, a quiet postal delivery to home, or in raucous cinemas. It exercised itself in American libraries, in Soviet magazines and books with stunning production values, in rakish Indian cinema of a certain universal emotionality, in the 'Cool Japan' (or kuru Japan) wave that followed the successful spread of 'Cool Britannia' that was a consequence of the Swinging Sixties.

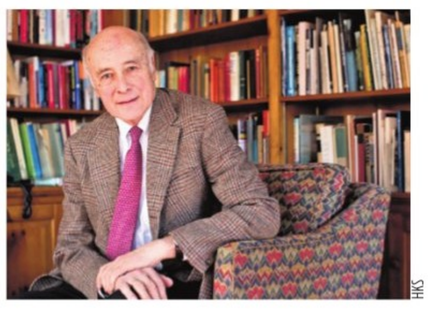
And then, Harvard's Joseph Nye invented the phrase 'co-optive or soft power' in 1990—a year before the Cold War ended and a quarter-century after soft power had already been doing the business of sociopolitical persuasion by States that presumed they had a say in global matters. What Nye did was put words to a performance so old that it counts historically as ancient. The Indian subcontinent, the Roman empire and what the Romans called Arabia Felix had been at it for a long time.

But Nye's definition of soft power makes it a modern-day phenomenon, a product of contemporary geopolitical dynamics instead of one reaching back into history when cultures were not just absurdly strange but often inscrutably alien. "Both academics and practitioners in international relations tended to treat power as tangible resources you could drop on your foot or drop on a city," he wrote in 2017. "Everything was coercion and payments, but sometimes people influence others by ideas and attraction that sets the agenda for others or gets them to want what you want."

Nye was quite the power maven. Simultaneously with soft power, he coined the term 'hard power', since it was difficult not to, because they belonged together. But it took him 13 more years to coin the term 'smart power'—in order, according to Model Diplomat, "to address criticism that his earlier idea of soft power was being misread as a substitute for, rather than a complement to, traditional hard power".

One might not have anticipated this when countries were exercising soft power in the 20th century's post-bellum counterculture years, but soft power and hard power were to become two faces of the same coin, with both to be opportunistically conjoined under the rubric of another term that Nye created: 'public diplomacy'.

Those were also the median years of the Cold War (1947-91), when superpowers and wannabe superpowers, hard powers like the US and the USSR and soft powers like India and China, were jostling for "hearts and minds", a phrase coined in the sense used today by British General Gerald Templer in reference to Malayans. But it took the term 'smart power' six more years after being coined before secretary of State Hillary Clinton shoved it into the mainstream US diplomatic vocabulary in 2009,



HKS

> States were flexing cultural muscle as a part of national outreach long before Joseph Nye coined the term 'soft power'. The world became poorer when the Cold War era's glorious output faded or was folded into 'smart power' machinations affirming it as the plinth of the Obama administration's foreign policy. By then, the whole shebang had morphed into a technocracy-driven '3D approach'—defence, diplomacy, development.

And the essential, often benign simplicity of soft power devolved into a muscularly argotised mess in part-military, part-wonk haute couture: contextual intelligence, alliance maintenance, multilateral engagement, investment in civilian capacity, strategic communication and credible narratives. The umbrella term for all this is psyops—an abbreviation of psychological operations coined by Rear Admiral Ellis Mark Zacharias of the US Navy in 1945. But it took until 1951 for the US military to formalise it over the use of psychological warfare—because it had become "concerned about the continued use of a term that includes the word 'warfare' to describe an activity that is directed at friends and neutrals", according to a 2004 paper written for the Institute for Defence Studies and Analyses.

And so it was that the terms soft power and psyops were both born in proximity in time and circumstance. It was only a matter of time before their operations and intent merged. Timothy Frye wrote in Harriman Magazine's 2026 issue, "Each day they arrived early: Uzbeks and Ukrainians, Georgians and Russians, lined up between temporary steel barricades to enter 'Information USA', a US Department of State cultural exhibit that travelled across the Soviet Union from 1986 to 1988... By the end of each day roughly 6,000 Soviets had seen their first copying machine, sparred with their American guides about the arms race, and left with a changed view of the US."

Is this sort of soft power possible any longer—or has it actually long been dead, subsumed under the sweeping internet infotrash vortex? Or was soft power always compromised, a velvet glove on a leprous hand?

Reader's Digest, for example, beloved of readers in India, was alleged as being part of the CIA's media influence programme. The spiffy Sputnik magazine, published by Novosti, the official press agency of the USSR, was created as a socialist offset to Reader's Digest's all-Americanism. The latter had some great, seductive writing, like the painter Norman Rockwell literalised. Sputnik had outstanding photography and production that the US couldn't beat. Both steadily racked up losses. The US establishment buttressed Reader's Digest; the USSR's Communist Information Bureau funded Sputnik. The former is limping along, while the latter shut down in 1991 in its print form, only when the USSR's disintegration made the Cold War unnecessary.

Is there any other kind of power left?

Tehran invites Modi to attend Khamenei funeral

India yet to decide the level of representation it will send for the event

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

IRANIAN President Masoud Pezeshkian has invited PM Narendra Modi to attend the state funeral of Supreme Leader Ayatollah Ali Khamenei, with ceremonies set to be held across multiple cities between July 4 and July 9. However, New Delhi is yet to decide the level of representation it will send for the event, sources said.

The formal invitation was conveyed to the External Affairs Ministry on Tuesday through the Iranian Embassy in New Delhi, diplomatic sources said. Khamenei's funeral ceremonies will begin in Tehran on July 4, followed by observances in the holy city of Qom on July 7, before concluding with his burial in his hometown of Mashhad on July 9.

Khamenei, 86, was killed in a joint US-Israeli airstrike in February amid the conflict between Iran, the US and Israel. His burial had initially been planned for March but was postponed as military operations continued and regional tensions remained high. The rescheduled funeral is expected to draw leaders from many parts of the world.

PM Modi is among several global leaders who have been invited by President Pezeshkian. Other invitees include leaders from China, Russia, Qatar, France and Pakistan.

Khamenei led Iran for more than three decades after succeeding Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini in 1989. While Khomeini was the principal architect of the 1979 Islamic Revolution that overthrew the Pahlavi monarchy, Khamenei played a central role in consolidating the Islamic Republic's political, military and security institutions. During his tenure, Iran expanded the influence of its military and paramilitary networks across the region and navigated multiple confrontations with Western powers.

Attention has increasingly turned to Khamenei's son, Mojtaba Khamenei, who is widely viewed as a key figure within Iran's leadership structure. Although he has largely remained out of public view since the conflict began, US Secretary of State Marco Rubio said earlier this month that Mojtaba seemed to be playing a more active role as negotiations between Tehran and Washington continue following an April 8 truce.

India and Iran maintain longstanding civilisational and strategic ties, with cooperation centred on connectivity, energy and regional trade. Modi last visited Iran in 2016, when he met Khamenei and then President Hassan Rouhani and signed the trilateral pact on the development of the strategically important Chabahar Port.

SC says India needs docs, junks fee plea

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday refused to interfere with the fee structure of the private medical colleges in Rajasthan, observing that "we need doctors in this country" while dismissing a petition that called the charges exorbitant.

A bench of Justices B V Nagarathna and Joymalya Bagchi heard a Special Leave Petition (SLP) challenging a Rajasthan High Court order. The HC had earlier rejected a plea by a medical aspirant claiming annual tuition fees in private colleges range from ₹18.90 lakh to ₹25 lakh, which, he said, was inconsistent with the ₹8 lakh income cap for EWS reservation.

"We need doctors in this country," said the top court while refusing to entertain a plea which alleged that the fee structure in private medical colleges in Rajasthan was exorbitant.

The counsel argued that high fees made MBBS unaffordable for EWS candidates despite quotas and urged the court to direct the state and Centre to cap fees at affordable levels.

The bench, however, declined to step in and refused to pass any order on the plea. "Medical education requires infrastructure, faculty, and equipment. Fee fixation is a policy decision for regulators," it said while dismissing the plea.

Noting that fee regulation falls within the domain of the state authorities and bodies like the Medical Council, the SC clarified that judicial interference is warranted only if there is manifest illegality or arbitrariness, which was not shown here in this present case. "One person cannot say that it is exorbitant in private institutions and make it on par with government institutions," the bench observed.

The bench observed that one has the option to avail a scholarship. "We need doctors in this country," it said. "We don't find any reason to interfere with the impugned order passed by the high court. The special leave petition is dismissed. Question of law, if any, is kept open," the bench said.

With this, the SC upheld the High Court's order. No directions were issued to the Centre, Rajasthan government, or MCI/NMC on fee caps.

The petitioner is a general category candidate, who possesses an EWS certificate. He felt aggrieved that the counseling board allocated him a seat in a private college despite he giving preference for 73 colleges. He argued that EWS students were charged the same fee as other general category students, thus making medical education unaffordable to the EWS students. He also relied on a National Medical Commission notice, which stated that 50 per cent of seats in private colleges should be at par with government colleges.

India, Russia sign MoU to boost tech ties

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

IN a move combining judicial diplomacy with digital reform the Supreme Court of India and the Supreme Court of the Russian Federation signed a Memorandum of Understanding on June 23 aimed at strengthening cooperation and sharing tech expertise.

The MoU was signed in Moscow during a meeting between the Chief Justice of India and the Chief Justice of Russia's Supreme Court.

Held at the Marble Hall of the Russian Supreme Court, the talks centered on deepening bilateral judicial ties and exploring collaborative solutions for emerging challenges.

India and Russia exchanged views on pressures facing modern judiciaries, including case backlog, access to justice, and cyber security. Both sides stressed that closer collaboration would help build more resilient court systems.

The talks focused on digital transformation. Both judiciaries agreed to share knowledge on use of technology and AI to improve efficiency and speed up case management,

Shah vision document to take on narco terror

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

UNION Home Minister Amit Shah will unveil a vision document on June 26 outlining the government's strategy to strengthen the fight against drug trafficking and substance abuse over the next three years. He will chair the 10th apex-level meeting of the Narco-Coordination Centre (NCORD) organised by the Narcotics Control Bureau (NCB). The meeting will bring together representatives from 44 ministries and departments as well as 108 officials from state governments and drug law enforcement agencies. The deliberations will be held in a hybrid format, a government statement said.

The meeting will review the collective efforts of central and state agencies in tackling the drug menace. It is expected to facilitate coordination among stakeholders and help shape future strategies aimed at enhancing narcotics control across the country.

According to the MHA, the discussions will focus on strengthening a whole-of-government approach to combat drug trafficking and abuse. Participants will deliberate on measures required to address emerging challenges and reinforce enforcement mechanisms over the next three years. The meeting is expected to reaffirm the government's zero-tolerance policy towards drug trafficking, a priority emphasised by PM Narendra Modi.

A highlight of the event will be the release of the Vision Document on Narcotics Control (2026–2029). Prepared through consultations with central ministries, enforcement agencies and other stakeholders, the document is designed to provide a roadmap for addressing the three key pillars of narcotics control—demand reduction, supply reduction and harm reduction.

The roadmap proposes a network-centric enforcement strategy and outlines measures to tackle emerging threats, such as synthetic drugs and darknet-enabled trafficking. It focuses on preventing youth from falling into drug abuse, expanding treatment and rehabilitation facilities, enhancing public awareness and strengthening inter-agency coordination.

The MHA said the document identifies responsibilities, timelines and measurable targets for all stakeholders while integrating enforcement, rehabilitation, capacity building and awareness initiatives. It will serve as a framework for policy formulation, implementation and institutional strengthening in the fight against drugs. Shah will release the NCB Annual Report 2025 and inaugurate NCB zonal offices in Jammu and Guwahati.

A nationwide drug disposal drive will be conducted as part of fortnight-long campaign. Central and state law enforcement agencies are expected to destroy 2,09,500 kg of seized narcotics, valued at approximately ₹6,000 crore, in accordance with legal procedures.

CRPF suspends officer for posts on CAPF bill

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE CRPF has suspended a DIG-rank officer for allegedly sharing social media content critical of the government during the debate and passage of the Central Armed Police Forces (General Administration) Bill, 2026, a legislation opposed by a section of CAPF officers, who called it discriminatory.

Sources said BC Patra, posted in Agartala, has been placed under suspension a few days ago pending a preliminary inquiry. The allegations relate to sharing of audio-visual and pictorial material on social media that purportedly advocated a change in government during the period when the CAPF Bill was under consideration, they said.

The legislation has become a law in April. CRPF Director General GP Singh said personnel are bound by service rules and the oath of office. Any written, spoken or physical act found to be in violation of these obligations would be dealt with in accordance with the law, he added.

Indian Navy ships wrap up Vietnam visit amid focus on Act East outreach

JAVARIA RANA @ New Delhi

TWO Indian Navy warships, including the BrahMos-armed stealth frigate INS Udaygiri, concluded a three-day port call at Ho Chi Minh City on Wednesday, as part of efforts to deepen maritime engagement with Vietnam under India's Act East policy. INS Udaygiri and the anti-submarine warfare corvette INS Kavaratti called at the Vietnamese port from Monday to Wednesday during an operational deployment of the Eastern Fleet in the Indo-Pacific.

"The port call reaffirms the Government of India's Act East Policy and the vision of MAHASAGAR, reflecting India's continued commitment towards constructive maritime engagement and cooperation with friendly countries of the region," the Indian Navy said in a statement.

During the visit, Rear Admiral Alok Ananda, Flag Officer Commanding Eastern Fleet (FOCEF), held discussions with senior officials of Vietnam People's Navy and the Ho Chi Minh City administration on maritime cooperation, professional exchanges and regional security.

INS Udaygiri, commissioned in August last year, is the second Project-17A stealth frigate built by Mazagon Dock Shipbuilders Limited. The warship is equipped with BrahMos supersonic cruise missiles, long-range surface-to-air missiles, anti-submarine warfare weapons and advanced sensors for multi-domain operations.

Background of the visit

The visit comes weeks after Defence Secretary Rajesh Kumar Singh disclosed at the Shangri-La Dialogue in Singapore last month that India had signed an agreement to supply BrahMos missiles to Vietnam.

The visit comes weeks after Defence Secretary Rajesh Kumar Singh disclosed at the Shangri-La Dialogue in Singapore last month that India had signed an agreement to supply BrahMos missiles to Vietnam, making it the second export customer for the missile after the Philippines.

Vietnam has for years sought the shore-based anti-ship variant of the BrahMos missile to bolster its coastal defence capabilities in the South China Sea, where it remains engaged in territorial disputes with China.

Defence cooperation between India and Vietnam has expanded steadily over the past decade through naval exchanges, training programmes, capacity-building initiatives and defence-industrial collaboration.

India had earlier gifted the missile corvette INS Kirpan to the Vietnam People's Navy, while the two countries maintain regular institutional engagements, including dialogues on defence policy and maritime security.

Earlier this year, New Delhi and Hanoi also agreed to launch a ministerial-level 2+2 dialogue involving their foreign and defence ministers to deepen strategic coordination. Vietnam also joined India's Indo-Pacific Oceans' Initiative (IPOI), further strengthening maritime cooperation between the two countries.

AI Delhi-Amritsar flight sent back after entering Pak airspace briefly

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

Air India flight AI479 briefly entered Pakistan airspace while executing a go-around near Amritsar on June 22 due to airport congestion and holding instructions.

Pakistan ATC alerted crew about airspace infringement, after which the aircraft promptly corrected course and returned to Indian airspace.

DGCA said the aircraft was initially asked to hold because of a runway inspection following a bird-strike-related incident at Amritsar airport.

Passengers faced about 4-hours delay; Air India and DGCA have reported the incident to authorities and initiated investigations.

WHILE maneuvering a go-around due to heavy traffic congestion, an Air India flight from Delhi to Amritsar briefly entered Pakistani airspace on Monday night, raising alarm bells. The aircraft was alerted by Pakistani Air Traffic Control (ATC) and was guided back. Sources said that the Airbus A321 (Flight AI-463) took off from Delhi at 9:18 pm on Monday and was scheduled to land at Amritsar at 10:30 pm. However, while executing a go-around due to heavy traffic congestion at the airport and the lack of an immediate landing slot, the aircraft deviated from its route and briefly entered Pakistani airspace.

After being alerted by Pakistani Air Traffic Control (ATC), the pilots immediately corrected their course and returned to Indian airspace. Subsequently, Air Traffic Control at Amritsar instructed the aircraft to return to Delhi, where it landed safely for technical inspection.

About two hours later, after obtaining the necessary clearance, the aircraft departed again for Amritsar and landed there at 2:20 am on Tuesday. As a result, passengers faced a delay of about four hours, sources said. "The aircraft, after diverting from its flight path, was promptly flagged by the air traffic control of the neighbouring country, which coordinated with the pilots to alert them to the airspace breach. They immediately corrected their course and guided the aircraft back into Indian territory," said a senior airport official on condition of anonymity, adding that such incidents occasionally occur during routine operations.

In an official statement, Air India said, "The crew operating flight AI-479 from Delhi to Amritsar on June 22 had marginally infringed into Pakistan airspace while manoeuvring a go-around at Amritsar airport. The incident has been reported to the regulatory authorities and is being investigated internally. At Air India, the safety of passengers and crew remains our top priority."

The DGCA has also issued a statement, saying that the flight was initially asked to hold operations due to a bird strike incident at the Amritsar airport.

PAC chief seeks report on Great Nicobar project

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

DURING a meeting of the Public Accounts Committee on Wednesday, its chairman and Congress MP K C Venugopal sought a report on the controversial Great Nicobar Project from Union Home Secretary Govind Mohan, sources said. The project has been consistently opposed by Leader of Opposition in the Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi. It has also faced criticism from environmental groups and other opposition leaders over its potential impact on ecology of the island.

Although the issue was not listed on the agenda, Venugopal said he raised it suo motu, citing its significance and concerns over the ecological impact of the project. The intervention came during a briefing by officials of the Ministry of Home Affairs on observations on the Comptroller and Auditor General report on the establishment and functioning of the Andaman and Nicobar Islands Institute of Medical Sciences (ANIIMS).

According to sources, BJP MP Anurag Thakur objected when the chairman raised the issue, arguing that the proceedings should remain confined to scheduled business. Venugopal, however, said that he wasn't seeking an immediate response from home secretary. "While accepting that he is not prepared for this subject today, it is my duty to make the home secretary aware that the committee has taken cognisance and would like a brief report later on the situation in the Andaman and Nicobar Islands with respect to the Great Nicobar Project," sources quoted Venugopal as saying.

Venugopal is learnt to have raised concerns over the felling of an estimated 1.5 crore trees and the displacement of tribal communities because of the project. "All this is being done to create commercial space for a few large private players. On one hand, the long pending demand for expansion of the naval base INS Baaz was put on hold. On the other hand, the Central government is hastily moving to commercialise the Andaman and Nicobar Islands," he is learnt to have said during the meeting.

Sources said that Venugopal also expressed concern over financial mismanagement and a 12-year delay in the construction of the ANIIMS. The chairman also expressed displeasure over the absence of the chief secretary of the Andaman and Nicobar Administration. Speaking to reporters later, Venugopal said the official has been asked to explain absence.

Call on defection of MPs before Monsoon session

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Shiv Sena (UBT) MPs met Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla on Wednesday amid the rebellion in the party. After meeting Birla, Shiv Sena (UBT) MPs Anil Desai and Arvind Sawant told reporters that they requested the speaker to "uphold the provisions of the Constitution".

It is learnt that Birla will take decisions on the defections in the Shiv Sena (UBT) as well as the Trinamool Congress before the start of the monsoon session of Parliament, which normally begins in the third week of July. Both parties have demanded the disqualification of their rebel MPs from the House.

The Shiv Sena (UBT) MPs sought a copy of the demands submitted by the six rebel MPs, who have now joined the Eknath Shinde-led Shiv Sena.

21-yr-old stabbed in local train after fight over door

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

MAYANK Lohar, a 21-year-old finance and management student, was allegedly stabbed to death with a sharp knife on a Mumbai local train on Tuesday night following an argument over closing the coach door during heavy rain.

Lohar, a resident of Virar, was travelling in the first-class compartment of a Churchgate–Nallasopara fast local when he got into a heated argument with another passenger between Goregaon and Kandivali. The accused, identified as Roshan Suvarna, was arrested in Kurla.

In the viral and disturbing video, the accused was seen holding a knife while wearing an unbuttoned black shirt, as Mayank lay on the train floor bleeding profusely. He was literally lying in a pool of blood. The crowd appeared stunned, and no one dared to rescue Mayank as the accused brandished the knife and threatened those around him.

According to the Western Railway Police, the dispute escalated to the point where some passengers began assaulting the accused. Enraged by the assault, the accused allegedly pulled a knife from his bag and launched a fatal attack on Lohar, police said.

Fickle fights, lost life: Mother, sister demand justice

The victim's mother, overcome with grief and fighting back tears, sought justice for her son. The victim's sister demanded death penalty for the accused and questioned why the passengers did not help her brother when he was being attacked. The weapon used is yet to be recovered and Suvarna's interrogation is still underway, police said.

"Between Goregaon and Kandivali, two passengers fought over closing the train door amid heavy rainfall. During the altercation, the accused stabbed the victim with a knife and then fled the scene," said Datta Khuprekar, Senior Police Inspector of the Borivali Railway Police.

The Railway Police arrived at the scene, took possession of the body, and sent it for a post-mortem examination. GRP formed seven investigation teams consisting of officers and staff from police stations and crime branches under the city's Western Zone, an official said. "With the help of technical intelligence and other inputs, the attacker was identified from the footage and tracked down to Panvel," a senior railway police official said.

The weapon used in the crime is yet to be recovered, the railway official said, adding that Suvarna's interrogation was currently underway.

The victim's mother, overcome with grief and fighting back tears, sought justice for her son. The victim's sister demanded death penalty for the accused and questioned why other passengers travelling in the train did not help.

238 hours of call records, CCTV clips solved murder

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

THE 2,000 phone calls, totalling more than 238 hours of conversation between accused Siya Goyal and her boyfriend Chetan Chaudhary, reveal that the death of 25-year-old Pune-based Ketan Agarwal was a preplanned conspiracy.

Earlier, Siya and Chetan allegedly tried to kill Ketan twice, but those attempts failed. In their third attempt, they succeeded in killing Ketan so that they could get married.

Ketan Agarwal was killed after being pushed into a 400-foot-deep gorge during a trek at Lohagad Fort on June 18. Initially, the incident was portrayed as a tragic accident caused by slipping while trekking at Lohagad Fort in Lonavala. However, CCTV footage, phone records, and tower location data revealed that it was a murder allegedly committed by Siya and her boyfriend, Chetan. Both were arrested, and the court granted them seven days of police custody.

Pune Rural Police said that the extensive phone contact between Siya and Chetan raised suspicion and helped investigators identify the alleged culprits. Police data revealed that between January 1 and June 18, the two were in contact through approximately 2,000 phone calls.

Investigators said this unusually high level of communication became a crucial part of the case and is being closely analysed to understand the nature of their relationship and coordination. Police also said that Siya's conduct and Chetan's appearance in CCTV footage, wearing a hoodie, helped transform what appeared to be a normal accident into a murder investigation.

The probe revealed that Chetan had visited Lohagad Fort multiple times before the fatal incident, allegedly with Siya. On June 18, he reportedly left his mobile phone at his office to avoid location tracking. Siya later confirmed his involvement during questioning. Chetan was allegedly at the fort wearing a hoodie, mask, and earphones and entered without paying the entry fee.

Moreover, Siya's conduct also helped police. Family members said that during a trekking visit on June 14, there was an earlier attempt to push Ketan off a cliff, but he managed to balance himself and survived. Siya reportedly said that a snake was near him.

Cong seeks CM's resignation, SAD wants CBI probe

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

THE political row over a controversial video allegedly linked to Punjab CM Bhagwant Mann intensified after the Haryana Police registered an FIR and arrested two persons, following a complaint by a forensic expert who alleged that he was offered ₹10 lakh to procure a fabricated forensic report.

The Congress on Wednesday demanded the immediate resignation of Mann and his arrest under the new sacrilege law for allegedly insulting and lowering the dignity and respect of the Akal Takht.

The SAD demanded that the case be handed over to the CBI. On the other hand, Mann said that the SAD, Congress and the BJP had started a "sanjha morcha" against him.

The Congress also called for a complete social boycott of Mann in accordance with the orders of the Akal Takht. The party leaders said that the Sikh panth is above everything, including partisan divisions. The party leaders also called for the dismissal of two Punjab Police officers who procured a fabricated "forensic" report to prove the Akal Takht wrong.

17 accused in SIT report in Ayodhya temple fund scam

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

THE Special Investigation Team (SIT), which submitted the preliminary report to the UP government in the Ayodhya Ram temple donation theft case, has reportedly named 17 people as accused, including senior-most office-bearers of the Shree Ram Janmabhoomi Teerth Keshtra Trust.

Sources said that the investigators have recommended the registration of FIRs against those under the scanner besides reconstitution of the temple trust and appointment of a senior official as an administrator. The SIT reached Ayodhya again on Wednesday for further investigations. Sources said that the SIT found the keys of the donation boxes in the possession of Ramshankar Yadav alias Tinnu, a close aide of Champat Rai, the general secretary of the temple trust. The SIT identified around 150 sevadars and employees linked to the collection of donations, sources said.

It is alleged that since the consecration ceremony of Ram Lalla on January 22, 2024, the financial status of several of them has changed rapidly, with some reportedly becoming millionaires. According to sources, the assets of Phoolkant Mishra, a sevadar considered close to Champat Rai, have increased significantly. Sources said embezzlement of funds had allegedly been taking place in the temple for years. "Sevadars were aware of the misappropriation of funds but remained silent because influential people were involved," a source said.

Meanwhile, on Tuesday evening, a flag-hoisting was held atop Sheshavatar temple spire within the temple complex. Eleven saints conducted flag worship. Dr Anil Mishra, a key member of the trust, and construction in-charge Gopal Rao welcomed the saints. It was coordinated by Champat Rai.

LUCKNOW BLAZE

Building owner never sought NoC: Fire dept

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

AMID the allegations of negligence and delayed response during the Lucknow fire tragedy, the officials of the fire departments in Uttar Pradesh have claimed that the owners of the building never approached the department during the last 13 years to get a no-objection certificate (NOC).

An official claimed that as per the National Building Code (NBC), 2016, residential or commercial buildings with the height of up to 15 metres and built-up area of up to 500 square metres don't require NOC. The building where the fire occurred is around 12-metre high with a built-up area of about 185 square metres. The official added that NBC-2026 norms had expanded the limit to 24 metres.

The official said that the fire department issues the fire NOC or conducts a fire audit only when the building owner approaches the department or when the building exceeds the exempted height limit.

Meanwhile, the Lucknow Development Authorities claimed that a demolition order had been issued against the building in 2016, but was later revoked.

Warehouse caves in, kills 5, injures 30 as Suvendu orders construction halt

SUBHENDU MAITI @ Kolkata

FIVE persons died and around 30 were injured after an under-construction roof on the third floor of a godown in the Taratala area of Kolkata collapsed on Wednesday afternoon. Officials fear that the death toll could rise. Central forces, Kolkata Police personnel and the state disaster management team were deployed to rescue the victims.

West Bengal Chief Minister Suvendu Adhikari visited the spot later in the day and said that many illegal constructions came up in the city during the previous TMC regime. Speaking with reporters at the state secretariat Nabanna, Adhikari said, "Construction works of all buildings, including multi-storey complexes undergoing constructions in Kolkata, particularly those which were sanctioned during the previous regime, will be put on hold till July 31." He added that all these buildings will have to undergo a health audit process under the supervision of a team comprising officials from different state agencies.

He said that construction of these buildings will be allowed to resume on August 1 after they are cleared by the experts' panel. State minister Indranil Khan and Agnimitra Paul and Smeeta Pandey, administrator of the Kolkata Municipal Corporation, rushed to the spot, which was constructed on the land of the Port Trust, given on lease.

The reason behind the incident has not yet been officially declared. The CM, however, said, "The godown might have faults in its building plans, according to preliminary reports... Legal steps will be taken against the owner Behra brothers."

The mishap occurred at 1.30 pm. The injured were rushed to SSKM Medical College Hospital. Two persons are reportedly in critical condition.

Jekyll and Hyde rerun? Blanket seller during day, drug smuggler at night

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

BY day, he travelled from town to town on a motorcycle selling blankets. By night, he smuggled drugs like opium and poppy husk across state borders. Ramesh Banjara from Neemuch, Madhya Pradesh, lived this double life, Dr Jekyl and Mr Hyde style, until Rajasthan Police arrested him.

Ramesh evaded arrest in NDPS cases by exploiting his striking resemblance to his brother Bahadur. Despite raids by the Rajasthan Anti-Narcotic Task Force (ANTF), he managed to stay ahead of the law. To conceal his identity, Ramesh posed as his brother. Whenever questioned, he introduced himself as Bahadur and even produced his brother's Aadhaar card on at least two occasions when ANTF teams were about to apprehend him. During the day, he travelled across MP, Rajasthan and Gujarat under the guise of Bahadur. He built contacts and finalised drug deals under the cover of his trade. After sunset, Ramesh reverted to his real identity and supplied narcotics to buyers he had connected with during the day.

ANTF IG Vikas Kumar said a breakthrough came when intelligence pointed to Ramesh's in-laws' village in Chittorgarh. Two teams kept watch on Ramesh and Bahadur. One tracked movements during a post-cremation gathering in the village. As Ramesh returned to Neemuch on a motorcycle with his wife, another team intercepted them on the route. He attempted to mislead officers again by presenting Bahadur's Aadhaar card, while his wife also backed his claim that he was not Ramesh. "The team asked why her husband had not accompanied her to her parental home. Interrogation led to the truth, and Ramesh was arrested," Kumar said.

Resemblance to brother

Taking advantage of his close resemblance to brother Bahadur, Ramesh Banjara evaded arrest in NDPS cases despite raids by Rajasthan Anti Narcotic Task Force (ANTF). To conceal his identity, he used brother's name. He produced Bahadur's Aadhaar card to ANTF and evaded arrest.

Maha plan: Date of birth must on wedding cards

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

AIMED at curbing the rising incidence of child marriages, the Maharashtra government is considering making the birthdates of the bride and groom mandatory on the wedding invitation cards.

While speaking in the Assembly's monsoon session, Aditi Tatkare, the Women and Child Development Minister, said that the BJP government is serious about bringing down child marriages in the state. She said that they have set the target of bringing down child marriage below 10% in the next five years.

BJP MLA Atul Bhatkhalkar raised the growing child marriage in Maharashtra in the state legislative assembly. Replying to it, the minister said that the state is considering printing the birthdates of the bride and groom on the wedding card so that people, including police, will learn the real age of the couple and take action if they are below marriageable age.

Tatakre said that the state government's women and child welfare department has written to the Rajasthan government to study its practice of mentioning the dates of birth of both the bride and groom on the invitation cards. "The Maharashtra government will examine the feasibility of adopting a similar mechanism in consultation with the rural development and the law and judiciary departments," the minister said.

She added that the district action forces headed by collectors, village protection committees and committees at the taluka and gram panchayat levels are actively working to curb child marriages and are being further strengthened.

The minister said that action will be taken not only against family members, but also those who knowingly facilitate such ceremonies, including priests. He said that musicians and others involved in ceremonies will also face the music.

Satyajeet Tambe, the independent MLA, criticised the state government's consideration of printing the birth dates of the bride and groom on the wedding card.

He said Maharashtra is a pioneer in social reform. "So rather than adopting other states' ideas, we should follow a more socially driven path, such as creating more awareness among society and carrying out programmes and showing films and documentaries," the legislator said.

Samrat govt under fire over youth's death

The Samrat Choudhary government is facing a major political storm over a recent police encounter in Bhojpur district in which a 28-year-old youth, Bharat Bhushan Tiwari, was killed. The government is under intense fire both from the opposition and ruling party leaders due to family allegations that Tiwari had surrendered before being shot. Leaders across party lines paid a visit to Bilauti village, the victim's ancestral village. The incident is may impact the assembly polls in UP scheduled for next year, as a section of the upper caste, particularly Brahmins, the caste Tiwari belonged to, are much more vocal against the BJP government this time.

Nishant's 'improper' Yoga poses draw flak

Nishant Kumar, state health minister and son of former Bihar CM Nitish Kumar, drew huge flak on social media after a video with his yoga poses went viral on International Yoga Day on June 21. The video showed Nishant's strange yoga workout where the newbie minister struggled with arm raises and forward bends. Performing yoga along with CM Samrat Choudhary, Union minister Rajiv Ranjan Singh, alias Lalan Singh, and others under the guidance of a yoga instructor, Nishant drew online mockery after he fumbled numerous times. "Nishant's yoga poses reflect the state's poor health condition," remarked an opposition party leader.

Govt approves five new private universities

In a bid to upgrade the state's higher education, the government has approved setting up five new private universities. The cabinet at its meeting chaired by CM Samrat Choudhary passed the education department's proposal to set up Himalaya University in Patna, Shanja University in Madhubani, SA University in Nawada, Sityog University in Aurangabad and another university in Siwan districts, respectively. The move is aimed at opening doors for private players in the field of higher education in the state. Hundreds of students willing to pursue higher education will benefit. The proposal had been pending with the government.

IRAN CLAIMS VICTORY, SAYS DEAL MARKED US DEFEAT

Rubio reassures Gulf allies as Trump says Iran dropped plans to charge ships passing via Hormuz

TEHRAN

IRAN called the deal to end the West Asia war "a declaration of America's defeat" on Wednesday, as US Secretary of State Marco Rubio renewed Washington's commitment to Gulf security during a regional tour, seeking to reassure allies hit hard by Iran during the conflict.

Iran's top negotiator Mohammad Bagher Ghalibaf said the Islamabad understanding "was not the result of pressure and coercion, but rather the result of the resistance and authority of the brave Iranian nation". He said security in West Asia must be ensured by countries of the region and called for "interaction" and "coexistence".

Rubio reassures Gulf

Rubio held talks with UAE President Sheikh Mohamed bin Zayed in Abu Dhabi before heading to Kuwait and Bahrain. His spokesperson Tommy Pigott said they discussed US President Donald Trump's memorandum of understanding with Iran, efforts to secure full and safe transit through the Strait of Hormuz and the importance of peace and stability in the region. Pigott said Rubio thanked the UAE for its support and "reaffirmed the US commitment to the security of the Emirates"

WAR WATCH

Trump on Hormuz

Trump wrote on Truth Social that Iran had informed that there were "no tolls, no insurance costs, & no other charges of any kind" on ships travelling through the Strait of Hormuz, though he did not say whether the commitment would outlast the 60-day negotiating period to reach a permanent settlement.

Inspection dispute

A week after the US and Iran signed the interim deal, differences surfaced over nuclear inspections. International Atomic Energy Agency chief Rafael Mariano Grossi said inspections of Iran's enrichment sites are "going to happen", saying the accord explicitly provides for IAEA supervision.But Iranian deputy foreign minister Kazem Gharibabadi said such issues "will be reviewed and decided only within the framework of a final agreement". AFP

Congress puts Don on notice with vote to end Iran war

WASHINGTON

THE US Senate passed a largely symbolic resolution on Tuesday calling for an end to Donald Trump's war with Iran, delivering a fresh rebuke to the White House as it tries to negotiate a lasting settlement with Tehran.

The House-passed measure, adopted by the Senate in a 50-48 vote, directs Trump to remove US forces from hostilities with Iran unless Congress explicitly authorises military action.

Because the measure is a "concurrent resolution," it does not go to Trump's desk for signature and carries disputed legal force. But its passage still puts both chambers of Congress on record against a conflict that began with US and Israeli strikes on Iran in late February, rattled global energy markets and opened a broader regional war involving Lebanon and Gulf states. During Trump's first term, Congress passed War Powers bills in 2019 and 2020 against military action in Yemen and Iran, respectively, but both were vetoed by Trump and the Senate failed override them.

Trump slammed the vote later Tuesday on his Truth Social platform, calling it "poorly timed and meaningless."

"These Senators have just made my job more difficult, but I will get it done, one way or the other, because I always get it done!" Trump said. The vote came as the Trump administration pursued a 60-day diplomatic push to turn a preliminary MoU with Iran into a final agreement covering Tehran's nuclear programme, sanctions relief and the Strait of Hormuz.

Senate Democratic leader Chuck Schumer forced the vote to put Republicans on record after several Trump allies voiced alarm over both the war and the president's deal to end it. AFP

China says people abroad can be held liable under ethnic law

BEIJING

CHINA has the "legitimate" right to target people beyond its borders under a new "ethnic unity" law, a top judicial official said on Wednesday, after overseas rights advocates warned it could be used to further marginalise minority groups.

The Ethnic Unity and Progress Promotion Law, which comes into effect on July 1, aims to forge a "shared" national identity among ethnic groups and contains a clause saying people and organisations overseas can be held liable for violating it.

Rights groups have argued that the law could provide Beijing with more legal justification for pursuing overseas advocates for minorities, such as the Uyghurs or Tibetans, that the Chinese government is accused of repressing.

Vice Justice Minister Hu Weilie defended the legislation on Wednesday, saying the clause "aligns with legal principles". "This provision is grounded in national realities... conforms to international practice, and constitutes a legitimate, lawful, necessary, and feasible legal measure," Hu said at a news briefing, according to an official transcript.

China officially recognises 55 ethnic minorities, besides its dominant Han majority, and has consistently denied that it engages in rights violations. AFP

UN EXPERTS ACCUSE ISRAEL OF KILLING KIDS IN GAZA, RENEW GENOCIDE CHARGE

JERUSALEM

A team of independent experts commissioned by the United Nations accused Israel of deliberately shooting children in Gaza and repeated its accusation that Israel has committed genocide in the territory. Israel has denied claims that it committed genocide during its 2 1/2-year war in Gaza.

The commission said in its report Tuesday that roughly 30% of the Palestinians killed from October 2023 to October 2025 — more than 20,000 in total — were children.

Israel has denied deliberately targeting civilians and pushed back on accusations, including from rights groups, that it committed genocide in Gaza. Israel's Foreign Ministry called the report a "libelous sham" and said the claims included hadn't been verified. It also criticised the commission as "a fundamentally flawed mechanism whose very purpose is to single out and vilify Israel rather than seek the truth." The report also said the toll the conflict had taken on children in Gaza amounted to war crimes and genocide, building on accusations it first made against Israel in September.

"Even after the October 2025 ceasefire, children continue to be killed and seriously injured, with continued disregard by Israel for the ceasefire and for the protection owed to Palestinian children under international law," Srinivasan Muralidhar, the commission's chair, said.

The report identified Israeli army divisions operating in areas where children as young as infants were killed.

West Bank raid

Israeli forces killed a 29-year-old Palestinian man during a house raid in the town of Yamun in the occupied West Bank on Wednesday, according to the Palestinian health ministry. The Israeli military said it was looking into reports of the death. Violence has surged in the territory since the Gaza war began in October 2023. AP

US made no pullout demand, says Israel

JERUSALEM: Israeli Defence Minister Israel Katz said the US had not demanded Israel withdraw troops from southern Lebanon, calling it a "diplomatic achievement", as talks with Lebanon continued in Washington. Meanwhile, an Israeli drone strike killed two people near Kfar Rumman, Lebanese state media reported. Military said it targeted two Hezbollah operatives who posed a threat.

Qatar PM in Oman for Hormuz talks

DUBAI: Qatar's Prime Minister Sheikh Mohammed bin Abdulrahman Al Thani travelled to Oman on Wednesday to initiate talks involving Gulf states, Iraq and Iran on the future operation of the Strait of Hormuz, a diplomat told AFP. The discussions, separate from US-Iran negotiations, will focus on freedom of navigation and possible maritime service fees. Pakistan is also expected to take part in the talks.

Federal judge bars Trump citizenship voting rule push

WASHINGTON

A federal judge on Wednesday permanently barred President Donald Trump's administration from implementing most of his first executive order on elections, part of which sought to require people to show documentary proof of citizenship when they register to vote.

The ruling by US District Court Judge Denise Casper in Boston effectively converts a preliminary injunction she issued a year ago, in which she temporarily blocked many of Trump's efforts to overhaul elections, into a permanent ban. Casper rejected the administration's argument that the lawsuit to block the changes brought by Democratic state attorneys general was premature because the rules had yet to be implemented. Instead, she agreed that the Constitution gives states and Congress the authority to regulate elections, and that Trump's requirements violated the separation of powers. The Constitution "does not grant the President any specific powers over elections," she wrote.

Among other proposed changes, Trump's order would have required people to provide documentary proof of citizenship when registering to vote, prevented mail ballots from being counted if they arrive after Election Day, even if they were postmarked by then, and punished states that failed to comply by withholding certain federal money. In a statement, New York Attorney General Letitia James said she was grateful the court had blocked Trump's "unconstitutional attempt to seize control of our elections" and would continue to defend voting rights in this year's midterm elections.

"Generations of Americans fought tirelessly for the right to vote, and we honor their legacy by protecting that right against anyone who tries to undermine it," she said. Requests for comment sent to the White House and Department of Justice were not immediately returned. It was the latest in a string of rulings against the elections executive order Trump signed just months after taking office for his second term. AP

Ukraine targets gas plant; Russia strikes back

KYIV

UKRAINIAN forces struck a major natural gas processing plant and two key satellite communications centers in their latest nighttime attacks on Russia, Ukraine's General Staff said on Wednesday.

The operation was part of Ukraine's aerial campaign targeting energy facilities and military industries that has intensified as Kyiv builds bigger and better long-range weapons to ward off Russia's full-scale invasion, now in its fifth year.

In response, Moscow has ordered the redeployment of some air defense systems from Russian regions to the capital and to Crimea's Kerch Bridge, a crucial link for supplying Russian troops, Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy said. The bridge connects the Crimean Peninsula with the Russian mainland. "It is important that as many Russians as possible come to understand that it is the Russian leadership's rejection of diplomacy that is prolonging the war," Zelenskyy said on X. Zelenskyy has accepted an unconditional ceasefire demanded by Trump but Russian President Vladimir Putin has refused. The overnight attack hit the Orenburg Gas Processing Plant, which is part of a complex that also houses the only helium plant in Russia, the General Staff said in a statement on the Telegram messaging app. The attack set the complex on fire, it said. Orenburg, in the southern Urals near Russia's border with Kazakhstan, is more than 1,200 kilometers behind the front line in eastern and southern Ukraine.

The plant is one of the largest gas complexes in the world, according to the General Staff. It produces helium, used in liquid-fuel rocket engines and guidance systems, and ethane, a key component in producing solid rocket fuel and gunpowder, it added. AP

Greer wraps up visit, talks progress constructively

Both India and US sides reviewed key elements of proposed BTA

Piyush Goyal, US Trade Representative Jamieson Greer during talks on proposed trade agreement in New Delhi | PTI

PUSHPITA DEY @ New Delhi

US Trade Representative (USTR) Ambassador Jamieson Greer, who led a delegation to India from June 22 to June 24, concluded multiple rounds of discussions regarding the bilateral trade agreement with Indian Commerce and Industry Minister Piyush Goyal and other officials on Wednesday.

However, trade experts after the meeting said there hasn't been any breakthrough yet.

As per a joint statement released by commerce ministry, the two sides reviewed key elements of the proposed pact, including market access, digital trade, supply-chain resilience, reduction in non-tariff barriers and cooperation in strategic sectors.

"The two leaders conducted a comprehensive review of core BTA elements, including enhanced market access, digital trade, supply chain resilience, reduction of non-tariff barriers, and expanded cooperation in strategic sectors. Both sides noted substantial progress by negotiating teams in recent months and welcomed the momentum from successive technical and ministerial-level engagements," stated the ministry.

The ministry said negotiating teams had made "substantial progress" in recent months via a series of technical and ministerial-level engagements. While neither side disclosed specific concessions under discussion, both governments said they remained committed to a deal that is "balanced".

Made 'substantial progress': Ministry

Commerce ministry said negotiating teams had made "substantial progress" in recent months via a series of technical and ministerial-level engagements. While neither side disclosed specific concessions, both governments said they remained committed to a deal that is "balanced"

Goyal said,"We reviewed progress of the ongoing India-US trade talks and explored avenues to further deepen our economic partnership. I appreciate Ambassador Greer's leadership and the sustained efforts of both teams in advancing our discussions in a constructive and forward-looking manner."

Ajay Srivastava, founder, GTRI said the visit failed "to produce any breakthrough suggests that New Delhi is reassessing the logic of the proposed India-US Bilateral Trade Agreement". He emphasised that the BTA looks like less as a vehicle for mutual economic gains and more as a mechanism to secure preferential access for American exports and strategic interests.

India and US aim to conclude the negotiations talks and finalise the deal by July 24, as the tariff of 10% on all the trading partners of the US will only be valid till then. During the meetings with Greer, India planned to address issues regarding Section 301 too beside discussing the tariff structure.

RBI eases INR hedging norms for banks

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

THE Reserve Bank has eased the requirement for net open positions on rupee (NOP) for banks by allowing them to exclude positions arising from hedged transactions related to foreign currency non-resident bank (FCNR-B) deposits, external commercial borrowings (ECBs) and overseas foreign currency borrowings to shore up depleting forex reserves, which in turn will prop up rupee.

In a late Tuesday night statement, the RBI said the decision to ease the norms came after allowing banks to extend loans to non-residents or issue a standby letter of credit in favour of overseas lenders, against FCNR-B deposits mobilised.

The regulator said banks are free to exclude positions arising from the hedged transactions related to FCNR-B deposits, ECBs and overseas foreign currency borrowings. These exclusions apply to banks while computing their NOP under the RBI's risk management framework and could enable the FCNR-B deposits and ECB swap facilities to become more attractive and easier to implement.

In late March when rupee came under intense pressure, the RBI had asked banks to cut down their NOP to $100 million by April 10 after rupee continuously hit multiple record lows. Prior to this, banks together had about $40 billion in NOPs.

The RBI earlier this month introduced a slew of measures to shore up capital inflows by introducing hedging cost support for FCNR-B deposits, a concessional swap window on ECBs by public sector units, and the inclusion of ultra-long tenor bonds under the fully-accessible route (FAR). These measures could potentially bring at least $50 billion worth of inflows, according to various estimates with Japanese brokerage Nomura pegging the likely inflows at $55 billion with the bulk expected in August and September. Although the central bank has partially rolled back some measures which officially curbed the non-deliverable forwards market, this $100 million cap has since remained unchanged.

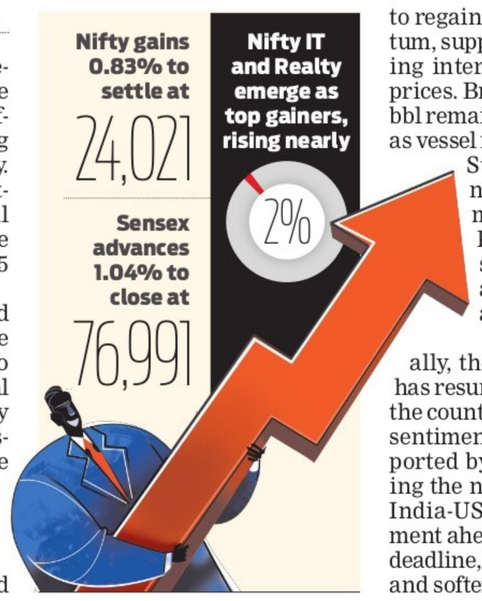
Earlier on Tuesday, the RBI allowed banks to extend loans to non-residents against foreign currency deposits, including though their offshore branches.

Sensex, Nifty gain 1% each on easing geopolitical crisis, cooling oil prices

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

DOMESTIC equity market recouped Tuesday's fall with the benchmark indices – NSE Nifty50 and BSE Sensex – gaining about 1% each on Wednesday. The change in sentiment is attributed to easing geopolitical tensions and Brent crude oil prices cooling to around $75 per barrel.

At close, the Nifty 50 gained 0.83% to settle at 24,021, while the Sensex advanced 1.04% to close at 76,991. On the sectoral front, the Nifty IT and Realty emerged as the top gainers, rising nearly 2% each, while the Private Bank index advanced 1.8%, providing significant support to the benchmark indices.



Nifty gains 0.83% to settle at 24,021
Nifty IT and Realty emerge as top gainers, rising nearly 2%
Sensex advances 1.04% to close at 76,991

"Indian equities are expected to regain their positive momentum, supported by renewed buying interest and lower energy prices. Brent crude is at US$76/bbl remaining near four-month, as vessel movement through the Strait of Hormuz is witnessing steady improvement," said Siddhartha Khemka - Head of Research, Wealth Management, Motilal Oswal Financial Services.

He added, "Additionally, the southwest monsoon has resumed its advance across the country, improving investor sentiment. Sentiment was supported by optimism surrounding the near-finalisation of the India-US interim trade agreement ahead of the 24 July tariff deadline, favourable global cues, and softer crude oil prices."

TechM CEO Mohit Joshi's pay rises 11.8% to ₹67.55 crore

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

TECH Mahindra chief executive officer and managing director Mohit Joshi received total compensation of ₹67.55 crore in the financial year 2025-26, an increase of 11.8% from the previous year, according to the company's annual report.

The compensation package included salary, performance-linked bonus and gains from exercised Employee Stock Ownership Plans (ESOPs). Excluding ESOPs, Joshi's remuneration increased by 20.39%, the report said.

His FY26 remuneration comprised an actual salary of about ₹17 crore, ESOP gains worth nearly ₹36.65 crore and performance-linked bonus pay of about ₹13.8 crore.

According to the annual report, Joshi held 4,68,130 stock options at the beginning of the year and received another 1,97,718 options during FY26. He exercised 2,35,364 stock options during the year.

The report said Joshi's remuneration, including ESOPs, was about 1,085.27 times the median remuneration of employees. It also noted that median employee remuneration declined by 4.89% during the year.

Meanwhile, TCS CEO K Krithivasan took home ₹28 crore in FY26, Infosys CEO Salil Parekh ₹82.6 crore, Wipro's Srinivas Pallia ₹49.6 crore and LTM's Venu Lambu ₹27.26 crore.

Meanwhile, median remuneration of employees in the same financial year, reduced by 4.89% and the median remuneration of Tech Mahindra's permanent employees during the financial year under review was ₹5.9 lakh.

Adani enters nuclear energy sector, eyes 10GW power generation capacity

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

ADANI GROUP on Wednesday announced its entry into nuclear energy sector via Adani Atomic Energy, targeting 10 GW of nuclear power generation capacity by 2035, as part of its broader strategy to support India's long-term energy security and clean power needs.

Speaking at the company's Annual General Meeting (AGM), Chairman Gautam Adani said the group has already identified land for the proposed nuclear projects and is positioning itself to meet the country's growing demand for reliable, round-the-clock clean energy.

"Our entry into nuclear energy through Adani Atomic Energy is another confident step towards securing India's long-term energy future. With land identified and a 10 GW targeted capacity by 2035, we are positioning ourselves early to serve the growing national demand for clean, round-the-clock power," said Chairman of Adani Group. The group also outlined progress across its energy, infrastructure, logistics, airports, data centre and mining businesses.

Partners Druk Green

Adani Energy Solutions announced a partnership with Druk Green Power Corporation. Under the agreement, Adani Group and DGPC will jointly develop 5,000 MW of hydropower projects in Bhutan. The company's transmission order book rose to ₹72,000 crore.

At Adani Energy Solutions, the company's transmission order book rose to ₹72,000 crore. It secured several major projects, including the Khavda South-Olpad HVDC transmission line, strengthening its position as India's only private-sector player with proven HVDC capability.

The company also announced a partnership with Druk Green Power Corporation. Under the agreement, Adani Group and DGPC will jointly develop 5,000 MW of hydropower projects in Bhutan. "At Adani Power, we are implementing India's largest ever private sector power capex programme of over Rs 2 lakh crore, with a target of reaching 45 GW of capacity over the next five years."

On logistics and connectivity, Adani said Adani Ports handled more than 500 million tonnes of cargo in FY26, creating a pathway towards achieving 1 billion tonnes of cargo handling capacity by 2030.

He said the group's integrated network of ports, special economic zones (SEZs), logistics assets and maritime services continues to strengthen its market position while helping reduce the cost and complexity of India's trade.

LEGACY BRAND

Norton rolls out Atlas motorcycle from Hosur unit

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

NORTON Motorcycles has started rolling out the first Atlas models at TVS Motor Company's Hosur manufacturing facility in India ahead of the official launch next month. The debut of Norton Atlas from Hosur marks the legacy brand's return to middleweight adventure motorcycling after a long hiatus.

"The first Atlas roll-out at Hosur is a proud moment - one that brings together the best of both Norton and TVS Motor Company: British design and engineering capability with Indian manufacturing excellence, and a shared commitment to quality for customers worldwide. Atlas takes Norton into a highly relevant global segment, and it does so as an unmistakable Norton," said K N Radhakrishnan, Director and CEO, TVS Motor Company.

Atlas will be introduced to the Indian market later in the year and is likely to be retailed via TVS' newly announced network for premium products - TVS Paddock, scheduled to be launched in Q2FY27. Norton Motorcycles' CEO, Richard Arnold, said, "With the first Atlas rolled out at Hosur, our focus turns to the next steps leading up to customer deliveries over the upcoming few months." Atlas has been designed and engineered at Norton's Solihull (UK) headquarters. The bike is powered by a compact 585cc liquid-cooled parallel twin with a 270-degree firing order.

FIVE IPL FRANCHISES AMONG HURUN'S MOST VALUED FIRMS' LIST

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

WITH a valuation of whopping ₹20,850 crore, IPL franchise KKR tops the list of the private cricket leagues, ranking it as the 270th most valued private company, followed by CSK at the 285th slot with a valuation of ₹19,550 crore and RCB at the third slot with a valuation of ₹16,700 crore, ranking it at the 330th slot, according to a list published by Hurun.

The other two in the list of five IPL franchises are Rajasthan Royals, occupying the 343rd position with a valuation of ₹15,700 crore, and Punjab Kings coming at the 390th position with a valuation of ₹14,050 crore, Hurun India said on Wednesday.

The Hurun India-Burgundy Private (Axis Bank) list of 500 top ranking companies said this is the first time that IPL franchises join the list, demonstrating the growing financial strength of sports franchises.

As per the 2026 list, Kolkata Knight Riders (KKR), Chennai Super Kings (CSK), the Royal Challengers Bengaluru (RCB), Rajasthan Royals and the Punjab Kings have all secured places among the most valuable non-state-run companies.

Collectively, these five franchises are valued at ₹87,000 crore, placing them alongside established businesses across sectors like technology, finance, manufacturing and consumer goods, the report said. The ranking highlight the IPL's transformation from a domestic cricket competition into one of the world's most powerful sports and entertainment properties.

Since its inception in 2008, the cricket league has attracted global investors, multinational sponsors and record-breaking media rights deals, which are factors that have altered the economics of the sport. One of the biggest contributors to franchise valuations has been rapid growth in broadcasting and digital media revenues.

ED finds pay disparity in Rajesh Exports

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

A day after Enforcement Directorate (ED) began search and seizure operations under the Foreign Exchange Management Act (FEMA) on nine premises of Rajesh Exports in Bengaluru and Mumbai, the central agency on Wednesday said it found the company paid disproportionate remuneration to its senior executives.

ED said the company reported consolidated revenue of nearly ₹7.7 lakh crore, but did not pay salary to its chief financial officer (CFO) since 2020, while the managing director (MD) received ₹17,000 per month.

Rajesh Exports was barred by the Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI) in early June, alleging large-scale financial misrepresentation, disclosure lapses and non-cooperation with an investigation into the company's financial statements. The SEBI alleged that the Bengaluru-based jewellery export company had misrepresented ₹15.15 lakh crore of revenues attributable to subsidiaries during FY21-FY25, representing about 99.8% of such revenues.

ED said the company failed to produce documentation of its foreign transaction, including its imports, exports, overseas investments and the settlement of foreign trade receivables and payables. "For example, contemporaneous records and documentation of claimed investment of ₹1,035 crore into African Mines were neither found nor provided by the company as yet."

GOAL American RUSH!

Croatia's Ante Budimir (centre) celebrates his goal against Panama | AP

Croatia stay alive, Panama eliminated

AGENCIES @ Toronto

THERE wasn't much open space in Panama's back line as they tried to keep their World Cup hopes alive. But just four minutes after Croatia coach Zlatko Dalic subbed on an extra forward in the second half, Josip Stanisic validated his coach's decision, finding some room on the right and making his move.

Stanisic lifted an exceptional curving cross onto the boot of Ante Budimir, who tapped it into an open net in the 54th minute, lifting Croatia to a 1-0 win on Tuesday night.

Croatia remain in contention for the knockout round ahead of its third and final group-stage match against Ghana on Saturday. Panama were eliminated and they are still seeking their first World Cup point in two appearances. "This was very difficult and I didn't expect that it was going to be such a difficult match, to be honest," Dalic said. "We didn't react the best, and perhaps it could be due to the pressure because we really needed these three points."

Three minutes after Budimir scored, the Vatreni nearly added another goal when 40-year-old Luka Modric — making his 200th international appearance — passed ahead to Marco Pasalic on a breakaway, but Panama goalkeeper Orlando Mosquera blocked Pasalic's shot. "I was quite surprised by the quality (of Panama)," Dalic said.

England held

FOXBOROUGH: England and Ghana coach Carlos Queiroz have met before at the World Cup, with the result being quite a bit different. This time, Queiroz's team earned a point that could end up being enough for a spot in the Round of 32. England dominated possession but came up empty on several late scoring opportunities in a rain-filled 0-0 draw.

HOW THINGS STAND IN GROUP L

The group will be decided on June 28, with England and Ghana tied at four points and Croatia with three. England will face Panama in New Jersey while Ghana and Croatia will face each other in Philadelphia.

THE SCENARIOS AHEAD OF FINAL ROUND

- England: Can advance with a win or a draw vs Panama. Even if they lose, they are virtually guaranteed to advance as one of the best third-placed finishers.
- Ghana: Will advance if they get the better of Croatia or if they draw. Could advance even if they lose as one of the best third-placed teams.
- Croatia: A win would guarantee at least second spot and a KO berth. A draw would mean they would finish third. Could qualify as one of the best third-placed teams in that case.
- Panama: Panama are eliminated but if they manage to upset England, that would mean Ghana or Croatia will have a chance to finish as toppers.

SWEDEN: Nordfeldt (23); Lagerbielke (2), I Hien (4), Lindelof (3); Bernhardsson (21), Nygren (10), J Kalstrom (16), Ayari (18), Gudmundsson (5); Isak (9), Gyokeres (17)

JAPAN: Z Suzuki (1); T Tomiyasu, K Itakura (4), H Ito (21); R Doan (10), A Tanaka (7), D Kamada (15), K Nakamura (13); J Ito (14), A Ueda (18), K Sano (24)

HIGH-STAKES CLASH

After a 1-5 drubbing against Netherlands, Sweden will be aiming to bounce back, but a strong Japan side stand in their way. A look...

BIG TEST FOR SWEDES

Graham Potter's side were torn apart by a rampant Netherlands team in their previous tie. Sweden had their chances in both halves, racking up 20 shots in total, nine of them on target. But they were shaky at the back throughout and they'll need to shore up their defense against an upbeat Japanese side.

JAPANESE JOY

Japan can enter the Round of 32 if they avoid defeat. One of the facets of this Japan team is their depth of technically sound players which makes injuries to key players an afterthought. The likes of Ayase Ueda, Daichi Kamada will be eager to deliver for Blue Samurai.

Do-or-die for Ecuador

ECUADOR ARE WALKING ON THIN ICE AFTER A SLOW START. A LOOK AT THEIR FINAL GAME AGAINST AN ALREADY-QUALIFIED GERMANY SIDE ON FRIDAY...

LACKING GOAL THREAT

In a World Cup that has seen plenty of goals so far, Ecuador remain one of the few sides to have not scored so far. Veteran forward Enner Valencia and rest of the attackers will be hoping to break the duck as they bid to qualify.

CHANCE TO EXPERIMENT

Having secured qualification, Germany may use this tie to experiment. Big guns like M Neuer, J Musiala, A Pavlovic and K Havertz may start on the bench to make way for the likes of O Baumann, L Goretzka & D Undav.

UNDERDOG TO THE FORE: UNDAV TALE

Once rejected for being too small, Germany forward has been making heads turn in WC

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN

PENNE. Chicken. Curry cream sauce. Hot sauce. Tzatziki. That, according to ESPN, was what Deniz Undav was eating in 2020 as part of his meals.

Not the breakfast of a potential future champion.

For a few days at the World Cup, Undav had led the race for the Golden Boot. The stocky German forward, utilised as a sub in their first two games, had scored three as well as assisting two goals. The 29-year-old, touted to start in their final group match against Ecuador on Thursday afternoon in East Rutherford, could be back on top of the leaderboard if he adds two more goals to his tally. In a World Cup where all the big-hitters have landed blows, it's one of the wildest sentences to be written within the context of the tournament.

Even as late as March, Germany coach Julian Nagelsmann and the forward had a public falling-out when the pair clashed over his supposed playing time for the national team. While the latter suggested he should be starting games, the former was of the view that the player's role would be that of an impact substitute. Less than three months later, Undav is about to start a match at the World Cup. To truly comprehend the surrealness of the Undav story, one needn't even go back to the beginning, when he was rejected as a 14-year-old boy for being too small. At 24, he was playing for SV Meppen in the third tier of German football; a long way from the glamour of the Bundesliga and a whole galaxy away from the World Cup (it was at Meppen where he was eating the above-mentioned meal).

To paint an illustration of how unique his story is, here's what the other top goal-scorers at this World Cup were doing at 24. Lionel Messi had already won the Ballon d'Or at Barcelona, Kylian Mbappe had already won a World Cup for France, Erling Haaland had already won the Champions League for Man City and Jonathan David, playing his football in Lille at the time, was spoken about as one of the best players to ever come out of North America. Post that Werder rejection, Undav spent his childhood at an amateur club before going semi-pro at Havelse. He still had to supplement his football earnings by working shifts on the factory floor. "I had to do that job for the money because I couldn't survive on the money from the football alone," he had once told a Belgian publication. So how did a German forward, who had slipped through the cracks, end up creating his own path back to the national team? The short answer is, well, modern football.

The goals didn't flow at Meppen (23 league goals in 69 games), but a club in Belgium's second division went deeper. Union Saint-Gilloise, now recognised as one of the teams that consistently win the transfer market by recruiting players by looking at their underlying metrics, studied his pie graphs, charts and Excel sheets. What they found was a million-dollar player in free agency. So they jumped at the chance to sign him.

Ten months later, he had played a key role in securing promotion for Union SG. A year later, they flipped him for a huge profit to Brighton in the Premier League after two successful campaigns (42 in 69). Even if it didn't work out for him in England, the Bundesliga came calling to buy back one of their own. And a return of 46 goals and 19 assists in 86 matches across the last three seasons for Stuttgart is a handsome return for a striker who was initially rejected as a child.

His late career bloom and his subsequent call-up should also be seen within the context of Germany's great No. 9 crisis. As soon as he proved his credentials at Stuttgart, Nagelsmann handed him a debut in 2024. But two years later, they are still getting used to the idea of each other. He has only played 11 times for the country. Yet, in those 427 minutes while wearing the national team's jersey, he has scored (nine) or assisted (four) 13 times (one goal or assist every 32.8 minutes). It's because the forward offers something different to every other attacking profile within the current squad.

Congo's living statue in focus

GUADALAJARA: Congo's famous living statue finally made his World Cup debut. Michel Nkuka Mboladinga, who gained fame during the Africa Cup of Nations for posing as a statue of Congo's assassinated independence leader Patrice Lumumba for the entirety of games, attended Congo's match against Colombia after missing the opener against Portugal because of Ebola quarantine requirements. Lumumba Vea was at his seat about an hour before the game at Estadio Akron.

Belgium's Doku to rejoin team

RENTON (US): Belgium forward Jeremy Doku was expected to rejoin the team at their World Cup training facility on Tuesday following the birth of his first child. Doku missed Belgium's 0-0 World Cup draw against Iran on Sunday because of a respiratory illness, but was cleared to fly to London so he could be with his wife. Ahead of Tuesday's training session, centre back Arthur Theate said Doku would join the team, but he was not present for the portion of practice that was open to the media.

Colombia's Daniel Munoz (L) wheels away in celebration after scoring against DR Congo on Tuesday | AP

Munoz powers Colombia to Rd of 32

AGENCIES @ Guadalajara (Mexico)

DANIEL Munoz helped Colombia break through DR Congo's stingy defense and advance to the knockout stage of the World Cup with a 1-0 victory on Tuesday night.

Munoz scored in the 76th minute after the Colombians had been held back by a strong performance from Congo goalkeeper Lionel Mpasi, who made five difficult saves in the first 20 minutes. Mpasi had no chance to stop Munoz's left-footed strike from inside the area after the ball deflected off a defender. It was Munoz's second goal in the tournament, and the Crystal Palace fullback was named the man of the match.

"We played with intensity and aggression, and we stuck to our style," Munoz said. "We earned these three points as a team and for all the fans who came out to support us. This victory gives us a morale boost." Congo twice came close to equalising in stoppage time, with Colombia goalkeeper Camilo Vargas making a superb save of a long-range strike by Nathanael Mbuku and then stopping a header by Chancel Mbemba off the ensuing corner kick.

Tuesday's results: Group K: Colombia 1 (Munoz 76') bt DR Congo 0. Group L: England 0 drew with Ghana 0; Panama 0 lost to Croatia 1 (Budimir 54').

Landmark legal win for female footballers

AGENCIES @ Lausanne

IN a landmark legal win for female football players, sport's highest court has awarded Maja Gothberg salary compensation from Lazio Women after the Italian club ended contract talks when it knew she was pregnant. The Court of Arbitration for Sport ordered Lazio to pay Gothberg more than 70,000 euros in salary compensation and "infringement of her personality rights" including 5% interest for the past two years, in a verdict published Wednesday by the global players' union FIFPRO.

The former Sweden youth international took her appeal to CAS after losing her initial claim at a FIFA tribunal. She discovered she was pregnant and told the club during talks that summer on a new contract for a salary of 64,000 euros, the CAS ruling stated.

Hurdler Yarraji makes dream return

TANMAY DAS @ Bhubaneswar

SHE looked focussed on the starting block of the 100m hurdles. It was a year to the date since she was forced off the track because of an ACL tear — something all athletes dread because of the time it takes to heal and the uncertainty associated with it even after recovery. Physically and mentally, it can be draining.

Jyothi Yarraji's right knee and its surroundings were strapped with tape. This was her first race since the injury. At stake was a spot for the Asian Games where she won silver last time. It was not easy on a comeback to stamp authority but Jyothi just did that when she clocked 12.99s to clinch the gold at the Senior Inter-State Athletics Nationals here at the Kalinga Stadium on Wednesday. She also has ensured she is on the flight to Nagoya for the Asian Games in September-October. Though she fell short of her national record of 12.78s, yet she knew the significance of the victory which she celebrated with a broad smile. "One year back on the same day I got injured and today I am extremely happy that I won gold and qualified for the Asian Games," she said with her words laced with a lot of emotion. Meanwhile, pole vaulter Dev Meena ascended new heights — 5.46m, another national record against his name. With this result, he too has secured an Asian Games spot.

Lopsided top four

India have loaded their batting with top-heavy batters. And that is not working with Yastika Bhatia at No 3 and Jemimah Rodrigues at No 4. They have to find a balance and make the most of Harmanpreet Kaur and Richa Ghosh's batting.

Eye on Net Run Rate

Apart from it being a do or die match for India, they will also be looking to accumulate as big a margin as possible. Because even if they beat Bangladesh and Australia, it might become a three-way net run rate battle for semifinal qualification.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

THE last time India women were under pressure in a World Cup, playing a final before the final, Shafali Verma rocked up to the press conference room of the DY Patil Stadium. Coming in as injury replacement for Pratika Rawal, the opener exuded her typical confidence that makes one feel that she was made for big occasions.

And it showed on the day of the final against South Africa as well. Now, India women are once again under pressure. From here on, they cannot afford to lose any games. To keep it simple, they have to win four matches on the trot to win the T20 World Cup. They are in this situation because of the poor performance against South Africa, again. They have to now beat Bangladesh first before edging past Australia to not depend on other teams for qualification. Then comes the semifinal and final.

On Wednesday, Verma once again exuded the same confidence, backing her team to rise to the occasion.

"In the hurdle yesterday, Harman di (Harmanpreet Kaur) taught us this thing only, that we came in this situation last year and came out of this situation. I will just say that we have come in this situation and we have won this situation, so this time also we will just go in that time and see what we did well at that time, which we executed well, so every player has seen that and we all are ready for that," said the 22-year-old from Haryana.

Thursday would be the first step towards that before Australia comes along on Sunday.

POWERING INDIA'S GREEN GROWTH

Uttar Pradesh Accelerates the Journey Towards a Sustainable and Future-Ready Energy Ecosystem

Uttar Pradesh is emerging as one of India's leading destinations for clean energy, sustainable infrastructure and green innovation. Backed by robust investments in power generation, transmission and renewable energy, the state is creating an ecosystem that combines energy security with environmental stewardship. Ranked No. 1 in Green Energy Corridor implementation, Uttar Pradesh is rapidly expanding solar capacity, strengthening power infrastructure, promoting green mobility and pioneering future-energy solutions. From universal electrification and solar-powered villages to bio-energy projects and green hydrogen initiatives, the state is powering a cleaner, greener and more resilient future.

Powering Growth Through Stronger Infrastructure

- Achieved 100% electrification of identified households under Saubhagya Scheme, benefiting over 2.86 crore families
- Highest number of household electricity connections issued under the Saubhagya Scheme
- Uttar Pradesh ranks first in the country in implementation of Green Energy Corridor projects
- Both units of the 1,320 MW Khurja Super Thermal Power Project are operational

Green Hydrogen: The Next Frontier

Uttar Pradesh is preparing for the future of clean energy through dedicated policy support and innovation-led initiatives.

Uttar Pradesh Green Hydrogen Policy 2024 launched

Two Centres of Excellence approved for green hydrogen development

Framework being developed to attract investments in future-energy technologies

Leading India's Solar Revolution

The state's renewable energy transformation is being driven by one of the country's most ambitious solar expansion programmes. Uttar Pradesh aims to develop 22,000 MW of solar capacity while steadily increasing the share of renewable energy in its power mix.

Utility Scale Solar Projects

Project Developer	Land Allotment	Capacity (MW)	District

- 7,900+ solar street lights installed
- 325 solar high-masts and 58 solar trees operational
- Solar-powered kiosks, boats and cold-storage facilities introduced

Solar Parks Driving Large-Scale Renewable Capacity

Major solar parks are strengthening Uttar Pradesh's position as a renewable energy powerhouse.

- Jalaun Solar Park (1,200 MW) set to become the state's largest ultra-mega solar park
- Chitrakoot (800 MW) emerging as a major solar hub
- Jhansi and Lalitpur (600 MW each) boosting utility-scale solar generation
- Mahoba connected through Green Energy Corridor-II
- Kanpur and Mirzapur projects adding significant renewable capacity

Advancing Green Mobility

Uttar Pradesh is steadily transitioning towards cleaner and more sustainable transportation systems.

- 743 electric buses operational across 15 cities
- EV charging infrastructure being developed at 272 locations in 16 cities

- Electric depot hubs operational in Prayagraj
- 3,000 additional electric buses planned before 2030
- 5,000 more e-buses proposed through contractual operations
- 500 e-autos planned across seven cities, with 50% reserved for women drivers
- Agricultural residue, livestock waste and municipal solid waste being converted into clean energy resources

Powering Agriculture Through Renewable Energy

Clean energy initiatives are supporting agricultural productivity while reducing dependence on conventional energy sources.

- 86,128 solar pumps installed under PM Kusum Yojana
- 5,858 private on-grid pumps solarised (Component C1)
- PPAs signed for 1,708 MW agricultural feeder solarisation projects (Component C2)

SPOONFUL OF OORU

The IT and startup city is now turning into a culinary hotspot with top-rated restaurants, international collaborations and a wave of young chefs cooking up unique cuisines

MAHIMA NAGARAJU & KALYANI WARRIER

WITH city-based restaurants and bars frequently featured on international best restaurants lists, the rest of the world is slowly realising what Bengalureans have known - the world is not just your oyster here, it's every dish you can imagine. "Lucknow has all its history, Bombay pretends to be the best food city, and to a certain extent is, in fine dining. But Bengaluru gives you choice," explains Chef Manu Chandra, founder partner, Lupa.

Born in Delhi, trained in New York but calling Bengaluru home, Chandra's hand has been felt all over the city's food spaces since 2004, when he started off at Olive Bar and Kitchen. A much sleepier city, poised at the start of the IT boom, it was a place that Chandra calls 'both conservative and progressive in different ways'. He remembers the difference today, saying, "Bengaluru summarily rejected us, people thought we were pretentious even though we were not. At the same time, all the expats loved us and thought this is what international food should be. Sometimes the market needs to catch up."

And catch up it did, a move that experts unanimously attribute to the IT boom – bringing young people with disposable income who were looking for something to do on the weekends. This gave rise to a culture of cafes and microbreweries that is still thriving, but hospitality professional Aslam Gafoor notices a big shift five years ago, as the pandemic wound down. "There was a demographic shift and since then, there has been openness to experimentation and experiences. It's not just about eating out, it's 'What do I bring as a memory from those meals?'," he says, noting that the city met this with 'a wave of young chefs' starting places like Fervor, Fireside, Comal with unique cuisines – Vietnamese, Mexican, Thai, Cambodian etc.," he shares. Internationally ranked bars like ZLB 23, Soka and Bar Spirit Forward as well as popular chef-led restaurants in Bengaluru, Eat Naru and Farmlore, started during or right after the pandemic too. The latter's founder Kaushik Raju, agrees with Gafoor, adding, "Before, fine dining was more [star] hotel-based but there was a shift to standalone restaurants focusing on finer food."

Being one of the restaurant's on Asia's 100 Best restaurants this year, Raju points out the effect these international lists have saying, "They create curiosity – we see people travelling from other cities just to eat now, which I don't think would have happened before, despite drawing local crowds." This exposure has led Raju to host several collaborative pop-ups with chefs from South Korea, Chile and more which he notes were 'born from friendship and shared approaches towards food'.

Chandra also draws attention to a demographic that is often ignored in the conversation but is key to shaping Bengaluru's international food culture: students. "Bengaluru is a South Indian educational hub with people from all over India, Africa and Asia coming here. So there are parts like Kammanahalli, a student hub, which see entire stretches of the most incredible Ethiopian, Nigerian, Vietnamese, Malaysian food in small silos." He adds that while fine dining is part of the story, it's thriving competition at every level that makes Bengaluru noteworthy. "Bangalore has a democratic culture so every place is competition for the next – the same person who will spend ₹4,000 to ₹15,000 at Lupa, goes to a small place serving dosae and naati chicken curry. It's the same ecosystem," he says.

Kaushik Raju points out that people now travel from other cities just to eat, which wasn't the case before

WHERE NEXT?

When asked if anything hasn't caught on in Bengaluru, each expert takes a long moment to think. One that emerges though is African food. Remembering a couple that have popped up over the years but have since closed, Kerwin Savio Nigli, the Head of Department of Hotel Management at Christ University, attributes it to a difference in palates. "African cuisine tends to have few spices, a gooey texture with tapioca-based dishes, which is unfamiliar. It'll take time," he says. An emerging space that chefs see opening up is not something from a foreign land but an opportunity to take a second, more discerning look at Karnataka's own cuisine. "I know a bunch of people who come here and have access to all of this food, but are familiar only with idli and dosae when it comes to local food. I see this changing slightly with Malgudi Mylari Mane, Super Naati and Holige Mane bringing local Karnataka food at the mid-casual and upper dining. That's something which will gain popularity over the next year," shares Raju. Gafoor points to other states that have been relatively less explored in the city's plates, saying, "We could still do a lot more with Odissi and Bihari food - there are pockets of these cuisines but none in the limelight."

Ahead of bringing her character-led standup show Pomblel to B'luru, Bigg Boss fame and actor-theatre practitioner Maya S Krishnan speaks about turning frustration into satire and using humour to question patriarchy

Why Should Boys Have All The Fun?

ANJALI RAM

SOMETIMES, words alone aren't enough to confront uncomfortable truths. Sometimes, it takes satire to make the point land. For centuries, clowns have questioned kings, mocked authority and said things others could not through satire. Actor and theatre practitioner Maya S Krishnan sees her popular alter ego, Manjula Teacher, as part of that tradition – using humour, sarcasm and absurdity to challenge patriarchy and the everyday 'rules and regulations' that society imposes on women. Bringing humour and social commentary to BLR Comedy Club on Brigade Road, through her theatrical standup show Pomblel (women) this Saturday, the Bigg Boss fame will take the stage to challenge power and question social conditioning, all through her sharp-tongued, delightfully chaotic character.

The seeds of the character were planted during Krishnan's time inside the Bigg Boss Tamil house, where she often found herself confronting sexist remarks and misogynistic behaviour. But direct confrontation came with consequences. "Inside the house, I was shocked to see audiences rooting for someone who was openly misogynistic and cruel," she recalls, adding, "Every time I took a straightforward approach and said, 'You can't talk like this to women,' I was called angry, loud or aggressive."

What began as a response to those experiences eventually evolved into Manjula Teacher, a satirical clown who says directly what women are often criticised for saying. "When women speak up directly, people often don't like it. By the time I reached Day 50, I realised I had to change my approach. People who disliked me when I was angry started enjoying the same criticism when it came through comedy," she says. Having completed her engineering degree in Bengaluru, Krishnan emerged as the second runner-up of Bigg Boss Tamil in 2023.

Having travelled extensively for performances across India and abroad, she credits theatre for shaping not just her craft but her understanding of people and society. "Theatre is not just my job; it is my lifestyle. Theatre taught me politics, perspective and empathy. It taught me what should be questioned and how to look at things differently, " she says.

Unlike conventional standup comedy, Pomblel thrives on unpredictability. While the show follows a carefully written structure, audience interactions account for nearly 40 per cent of the performance, which is improvised on stage. The freedom the character offers lies central to its appeal. Through Manjula, she can ask uncomfortable questions in ways that might otherwise seem difficult. "I didn't create Manjula to be funny. I created her to question. Our first video went viral and that gave us the confidence to keep exploring the character," Krishnan shares.

She also believes working in reverse. "I fixed the premiere date before I began thinking about the show. I announced it, and three of them were sold out, and only after that did I start writing and creating the piece," she says, adding, "It was stressful, but it also pushed us to create. Sometimes you need a deadline to work towards. I wanted to find the state of the character first, go with wherever my flow takes me without judging it too soon and completely surrender to the process."

As the audience walk to Pomblel, she hopes them to leave with a question that has always been simple and recurring for her: If men are allowed to do something, why can't women? Who made these rules and why do they continue to exist?

Theatre is not just my job; it is my lifestyle. Theatre taught me politics, perspective and empathy. It taught me what should be questioned and how to look at things differently

From Struggle to Legacy: Two Books Trace the Journey of B.K. Srinivasa

Sri Karivrishabha Shiva Yogishwara Swamiji releases the English and Kannada coffee table books chronicling the life and journey of B.K. Srinivasa at Gandhi Bhavan, Bengaluru, on Wednesday.

Two coffee table books documenting the life and achievements of noted film personality, entrepreneur and philanthropist B.K. Srinivasa were released at Gandhi Bhavan in Bengaluru on Wednesday in the presence of eminent personalities from the fields of spirituality, journalism and cinema. The books, "BK Srinivasa: Benkosri Unscripted – A Life Shaped by Struggle and Cinema" (English) and ಬಿ.ಕೆ. ಶ್ರೀನಿವಾಸ(ಬೆಂ.ಕೋ.ಶ್ರೀ): ಒಂದು ಅಸಾಮಾನ್ಯ ಜೀವನಯಾನ (Kannada), were released by Sri Karivrishabha Shiva Yogishwara Swamiji, revered pontiff of Sri Kadasiddeshwara Matha, Nonavinakere, and Virakta Matha, Turuvekere.

Blessing the occasion, the Swamiji reflected on Srinivasa's journey and noted that both came from humble cowherd backgrounds. While Srinivasa excelled in cinema and business, he chose the spiritual path, praising Srinivasa's perseverance, determination and service to society.

Senior journalist Shri Jogi lauded the publication, observing that the books document a life shaped by struggle, resilience and reinvention. He said such life stories serve as a source of inspiration and valuable lessons for future generations.

Film producer Sa Ra Govindu praised Srinivasa's assiduousness, saying his success stemmed from hard work, commitment and resilience. He added that Srinivasa's journey exemplified perseverance and integrity in overcoming life's challenges.

P. Suresh Kumar, Senior General Manager, The New Indian Express, Karnataka, said the books meticulously document Srinivasa's rise from humble beginnings, his hardships and eventual success, creating a valuable record that the posterity can draw inspiration from.

Also present on the occasion were Jahnavi Karthik, JD(S) leader; K.V. Chandrashekar, former president of the Karnataka Film Chamber of Commerce and proprietor of Veeresh Theatre; C.R. Shrinivas, chartered accountant; B.V. Dwarkanath, founding president of Sree Charan Souharda Co-operative Bank Ltd.; and Sangamesh Upase, KAS officer.

Published by The New Indian Express, the English and Kannada coffee table books trace B.K. Srinivasa's journey from a modest rural upbringing to becoming a respected figure in cinema, business and public life. The volumes chronicle his struggles, setbacks, successes and reinventions, highlighting his contributions to Kannada cinema and entrepreneurship. Reflecting Karnataka's social transformation, they serve as tributes to resilience, perseverance, dignity and enduring human values.

Is it better to track fitness progress through their before/after pictures compared to the weighing scale?

The weighing scale tells you only your body weight. It does not tell you how much of that is fat, muscle, water or bone. But unfortunately, many are obsessed with weighing scales and check it after every workout and meal. This can derail your fitness journey.

ASK AN XPERT

- Before and after photos provide a more accurate picture of progress as they capture changes in body composition, posture, muscle definition, and overall appearance.
- One may lose body fat and gain muscle at the same time, with little or no change on the scale, yet their body looks leaner and stronger. When you strength train, your body will show inch loss.
- The best approach is to combine several measures, including progress photos, body measurements, strength, energy levels, performance and how your clothes fit. Think of the weighing scale as one data point, not the final verdict.
- Take progress photos under the same lighting, clothing and time of day every 4 to 6 weeks for the most meaningful comparison.

YOGA AND DIABETES: FIVE PRACTICES TO TRY

Yoga is not a replacement for diabetes medication, food habits, walking, or medical advice. But it can be a useful support when practised regularly and safely. For people living with diabetes, especially type 2 diabetes, the focus should be on movements that use large muscles, build strength gradually, improve body awareness, and help reduce stress. Here are five yoga practices to try.

1. UTKATASANA VARIATION
(Supported Chair Pose)

Stand with feet hip-width apart and hold a chair or wall for support. Bend the knees slightly and move the hips back, as if sitting on a chair. Keep the chest lifted and the knees pointing in the same direction as the toes. Repeat 5 to 8 times.

2. VIRABHADRASANA II
(Warrior 2 Pose)

Stand with feet 3 to 4 feet apart. Turn the right foot out and the left foot slightly in. Bend the right knee only as much as comfortable. Keep the left leg active and press both feet into the floor. Stay for 3 to 5 breaths and repeat on the other side.

3. INCLINE PHALAKASANA
(Incline Plank)

Place both hands on a wall or a stable chair placed against a wall. Step the feet back until the body forms a straight line. Keep the shoulders relaxed and the belly gently active. Hold for 10 to 20 seconds.

4. SETU BANDHASANA
(Bridge Pose)

Lie on the back with knees bent and feet hip-width apart. Press the feet down, gently engage the buttocks and slowly lift the hips. Lower with control. Repeat 5 to 8 times.

5. NADI SHODHANA
(Alternate Nostril Breathing)

Sit comfortably. Breathe slowly through one nostril, then change sides and breathe out through the other. Continue gently for 1 to 2 minutes. Do not hold the breath.

Move slowly and avoid breath-holding. If you use insulin, have frequent low sugar episodes, dizziness, foot numbness, eye complications, heart disease or any unusual symptoms, practise only with medical guidance.

As looksmaxxing gains popularity among young men, experts warn that chasing ideal appearances can come at a mental cost

IN PURSUIT OF PERFECTION

DARSHITA JAIN

A few years ago, conversations around skincare, haircare and cosmetic treatments were largely associated with women. Today, that picture looks very different. Young men are increasingly investing in serums, grooming routines, hair treatments and aesthetic procedures, all in pursuit of looking their best. Fuelled by social media trends and influencer culture, a phenomenon known as 'looksmaxxing' has rapidly moved from niche online communities into mainstream conversations. As June marks Men's Health Month and Men's Mental Health Awareness Month, experts say the trend offers an opportunity to discuss not just appearance, but also the pressures and expectations that often come with it.

The reasons behind the growing popularity of looksmaxxing reveal a larger shift in how young men view themselves. Sharing her perspective on this trend, Dr C Manjula Rao, consultant clinical psychologist, says, "Social media and influencer culture are playing a major role in the rise of looksmaxxing. Many young men feel that looking attractive can help them gain confidence, acceptance and even career opportunities. While taking care of appearance is good, placing too much importance on looks can lead to stress and disappointment."

The changes are not limited to social media feeds. They are increasingly visible in dermatology clinics as well. Speaking about what young men are seeking today, Dr Sindhura Mandava, consultant dermatologist and aesthetics, shares, "Medical-grade skincare like chemical peels and microneedling for texture and acne scarring, topical finasteride/minoxidil for hair thinning and minimally invasive procedures like botulinum toxin, hyaluronic acid fillers and laser therapies for vascular and pigmentation problems are now popular treatments."

Beneath the surface, however, lies a different story, one shaped by comparison and unrealistic expectations. Reflecting on the emotional impact of constantly viewing idealised images online, Rao narrates, "Social media often shows edited and carefully selected images that create unrealistic expectations. This can lower self-confidence and increase anxiety about looks."

Not every shortcut to a better appearance is safe. Discussing some of the worrying practices gaining popularity online, Mandava notes, "Risky and unscientific methods are becoming more prevalent. These include following unreliable advice from non-clinical influencers, purchasing prescription-strength products without supervision, using topical steroids for cosmetic purposes, indiscriminate steroid or unapproved injectable use and performing unregulated at-home procedures. Scarring, infection, pigment changes and long-term skin or hair damage are risks associated with such treatments."

The mental health impact of these pressures is becoming increasingly evident. Looking at the concerns of bringing more young men into therapy, Rao expresses, "More young men are seeking help for anxiety, low self-esteem and body image concerns. The pressure to meet unrealistic beauty standards, especially on social media, is contributing to these problems. In some cases, it can develop into body dysmorphic disorder and affect mental well-being"

Finding balance, experts say, is far more valuable than chasing perfection. Sharing what a healthy approach to appearance looks like, Mandava concludes, "Evidence-based strategies are the focus of healthy, long-lasting improvement: create a basic daily routine that includes sunscreen every morning, a mild cleanser, moisturiser and targeted actives (retinoids, vitamin C) as needed; consult a dermatologist for hair loss options (topical minoxidil, oral therapies when appropriate); treat acne and pigmentation according to prescribed regimens rather than by trial and error; and select licensed clinics for any in-office procedures. Lifestyle is important: healthy skin and hair are enhanced by a balanced diet, enough sleep, stress reduction and quitting smoking."

For many young men, the desire to look good comes from a very human place, the need to feel confident and comfortable in their own skin. Experts believe self-care should be encouraged, but not at the cost of mental health. After all, confidence built on realistic expectations and overall well-being is far more lasting than any trend that appears on a screen.

Changing face of vitiligo

On World Vitiligo Day, today, dermatologists say the conversation around the condition is finally changing, thanks to greater awareness and remarkable advances in treatment

DARSHITA JAIN

A small white patch on the skin may seem harmless at first. Many ignore it, hoping it will fade away on its own. For others, it becomes a source of anxiety. Vitiligo, a condition that causes the skin to lose its natural colour, affects millions worldwide. Yet despite its relative commonality, it remains surrounded by myths and misconceptions. On World Vitiligo Day, today, dermatologists say the conversation around the condition is changing, thanks to remarkable advances in treatment.

Explaining what happens inside the body when the condition develops, Dr Divya Siddavaram, senior dermatologist, says, "Vitiligo is an autoimmune condition in which the body's immune system mistakenly attacks melanocytes, the cells which are responsible for producing melanin, the pigment that gives skin, hair and eyes their colour. When these cells are destroyed, the affected areas appear as white patches. Although the exact cause is not fully known, genetics, stress on skin cells and environmental factors play a role. Vitiligo is not contagious and is not caused by poor hygiene or dietary habits."

Reflecting on how treatment options have evolved, Dr Vijaya Gowri Bandaru, consultant dermatologist, shares, "Vitiligo was considered difficult to treat, leading to frustration among patients. Today, targeted immunomodulators, phototherapy and surgical techniques have improved outcomes."

The focus of treatment today is not only to stop the condition from progressing but also to encourage the return of lost pigment. Speaking about modern therapies, Siddavaram narrates, "The goal is to stop disease progression and stimulate repigmentation by encouraging surviving melanocytes, particularly those in hair follicles, to migrate into depigmented skin. Narrowband UVB phototherapy remains the gold standard for widespread vitiligo, as it reduces the autoimmune response while promoting melanin production."

Discussing why doctors encourage patients to seek help early, Bandaru highlights, "Early treatment is crucial, as they help halt disease progression. Treating active vitiligo before extensive pigment loss occurs yields better results."

A common question is how long it will take to see a difference. Siddavaram says, "Patients with early-stage vitiligo have the best treatment outcomes. The face and neck tend to respond favourably because they have a higher density of hair follicles that serve as reservoirs for melanocytes. Repigmentation is a gradual process, and most patients begin noticing improvement after 3-6 months."

The road to recovery is rarely just physical. Talking about the challenges many patients experience during treatment, Siddavaram notes, "The biggest challenge for vitiligo patients is that repigmentation is often slow and varies from person to person. Emotional stress, treatment fatigue and unrealistic expectations can affect adherence. Doctors help by explaining that improvement takes time by setting achievable goals, monitoring progress regularly and providing psychological support throughout treatment."

Addressing some myths that persist around the condition, Siddavaram expresses, "A big misconception is that vitiligo is untreatable. In reality, effective treatment options are available. Another myth is that vitiligo spreads through physical contact, which is completely false."

I APPROACH A FILM WITH ZERO EXPECTATIONS : SUNI

A still from the film

Ahead of Moda Kavida Vaatavarana's release, director Suni discusses his latest film, the hidden emotions, changing expressions of love, and why romance continues to be the thread connecting every chapter of his career

A SHARADHAA

SOME filmmakers return to the same genre because it is commercially safe. Then there is director Suni, who keeps returning to love because he is still trying to understand it. Across his career, romance has remained the common thread. But what has changed is the lens. The wide-eyed innocence of Simple Agi Ondh Love Story is not the same as the emotional complexity that coloured his later films. With every project, Suni appears to have arrived at a slightly altered understanding of relationships, and his upcoming Moda Kavida Vaatavarana, releasing on June 26, seems to be his latest meditation on the subject.

Translated loosely as "a cloud-covered atmosphere", Moda Kavida Vaatavarana immediately evokes uncertainty. The posters do the same. Unlike the bright-eyed optimism associated with many of his earlier romances, these visuals seem drenched in ambiguity. Is this a love story painted in shades of grey? "I am glad you recognised our posters. Every poster and every title has a bigger meaning behind the film," he says, adding, "There is love in this story, but even a beautiful person who appears perfect on the outside could be carrying pain within. Some emotions remain unexpressed. The film explores those feelings."

Suni

It is tempting to call these the grey shades of love. Suni, however, sees them as part of the same emotional spectrum. His fascination lies not in whether love is black, white or grey, but in how people carry emotions they rarely articulate. The cloud in the title is less about darkness and more about what remains hidden. That thought becomes particularly relevant in an age of dating apps, fleeting attention spans and digital relationships. Yet Suni remains convinced that while methods of communication have changed, emotions themselves have not. "Gen Z may express themselves through statuses, messages, or social media. Sometimes they may not express anything at all. But emotions have not changed. Friendship, affection, love, and longing remain evergreen," says Suni.

That belief in emotional authenticity also explains the casting of Sheelam M Swamy, who headlines the film alongside Moksha Kushal and Saathvika. Sheelam has been a long-time associate of Suni, spending more than a decade working behind the scenes before finding himself at the centre of this story. "Sheelam came as a software engineer with dreams of becoming an actor," recalls Suni. "He has been with me for over ten years. During the lockdown, when this script was taking shape, I would constantly discuss it with him. I had narrated the story to a few stars, and Sheelam would accompany me for those meetings. At one point, I felt, why am I looking elsewhere when this character is right here?"

Despite having worked with established actors, Suni has consistently introduced fresh faces. He believes newcomers bring a different kind of flexibility to intimate stories. "With stars, many things are already in place, including the business side. But newcomers can dedicate more time to a project. More importantly, simple stories thrive when actors do not carry pre-existing images."

He cites Rakshit Shetty and Rishi as examples of actors he supported without considering their backgrounds. "I never look at where somebody comes from. They may enter as professionals, but eventually they become family," says Suni.

That willingness to trust fresh talent mirrors his willingness to take creative risks. The risk, he says, lies in trying to be different with each story. Looking back, Suni sees his filmography as a series of experiments rather than a carefully planned career graph. "After Simple Agi Ondh Love Story, I made Bahuparak. Then I returned to Simpllag Innondh Love Story. After that came Operation Alamelamma, Bazaar, Chamak, Sakath, Avatara Purusha, Ondu Sarala Prema Kathe and Gatha Vaibhava. Every story demands something new. That itself is a risk."

As a producer, Suni also understands cinema's economics. "I know profit and loss. But cinema on the big screen is beyond calculations. Today, publicity costs have become enormous. We need better cinematic education and stronger partnerships. Whenever I partner with a producer, I tell them I approach a film with zero expectations. Only then can we truly enjoy whatever success comes our way," says Suni.

Produced under the Ram Movies banner by Mysuru Ramesh, Srirangaraju, Lokesh Belavadi and Goa Ramesh, along with Simple Suni, the film arrives with measured expectations from its director. "One Friday can change everything," says Suni, adding, "I have never claimed every film of mine is perfect. But when audiences connect emotionally, nothing can stop a film."

And perhaps that is what continues to explain Suni's career. Successes, failures, experiments and reinventions have all come and gone. The search for a new way to speak about love, however, continues. In Moda Kavida Vaatavarana, Suni seems less interested in the sunshine and more interested in the clouds. Not because romance has become darker, but because he has discovered that every heart carries the weather of its own. As he signs off, he hopes those clouds bring a silver lining by leading audiences into theatres.

'Even after the shoot, I was living as Balarama'

Vinod Prabhakar opens up about surrendering to KM Chaitanya's filmmaking process, inhabiting Balarama's world, and finding new lessons as an actor

CE FEATURES

FOR Vinod Prabhakar, Balaramana Dinagalu was a long-held wish finally finding its moment. "I've always wanted to work with Chaitanya. For this film, I told myself it wasn't just going to be sweat, but I would be ready to shed blood too. Working with Chaitanya was a dream come true, and I wanted this film to work," says Vinod Prabhakar, ahead of the film's release on June 26.

His admiration for the director runs deeper than cinema. Vinod believes Chaitanya is an intellectual director, and almost like an encyclopedia. "You can ask him about politics, history, people, anything. He knows it all. When I got to know him, he would talk about craft, and when he narrated where he started and where he is today, you understand his calibre. Before firing questions at a director about the subject, you need to know the person you're working with."

While Chaitanya describes Vinod as a versatile actor capable of turning any film into a mass entertainer, the actor chose to surrender to the filmmaker instead of flexing stardom. "I'm a director's actor. I understood what Chaitanya wanted from me. We discussed every important point and stayed committed to it. I rarely went to the monitor. I'd ask if the shot was okay and move on. I never wanted to disturb his vision. He's already seen the film in his head. We're only helping him bring it alive."

While Chaitanya's films are rooted in authenticity, Vinod did his own homework for Balarama. "I watched interviews and reference material Chaitanya sent me. Growing up in Frazer Town, I had heard stories about underworld dons like Jayaraj, Kothwal, Balarama and Koli Faiyaz. Those stories fascinated us as kids. I already knew a bit about that world."

However, nothing about Balarama shocked him, but he was thoroughly impressed with Chaitanya's writing. "I knew many of those stories from different angles. What fascinated me was how Chaitanya shaped Balarama's journey on paper."

Every film, Vinod says, is a fresh beginning. "I don't think I unlearned anything. But I learned a lot from Chaitanya. After Maadeva, this film gave me new perspectives. I like to erase my previous films and start from scratch every time," says Vinod, adding that leaving Balarama behind wasn't easy. "Even after the shoot, I was living as Balarama for a long time. To play him, I had to travel back to the 1980s and see the world through his eyes."

He also credits producer Shreyas Jayaram, who was determined to mount the film on a larger scale despite Vinod's initial reservations. "As an actor, I'm secure enough to know my strengths and weaknesses. Cinema is all about teamwork. I like exchanging ideas because we're all chasing the same thing: the perfect frame. As an actor, I'm always curious about how others see my character and what the audience expects from the film. That's how you grow," he signs off.

Alec Baldwin to star in Panic Button

CE FEATURES

ALEC Baldwin will star in the upcoming action thriller Panic Button, directed by Juan Boffill. He is joined by Jeremy Piven, David AR White, and Leven Rambin.

The film, written by Matthew Eason and Tommy Blaze, is about a meticulous security chief (White) who wakes up one day to find a dead woman beside him. In his race to clear the murder charges against him, he also needs to evade and stay one step ahead of the two relentless FBI agents (Baldwin and Rambin) and a ruthless Russian mob.

Boffill described the film as a ride filled with "suspense, danger and unexpected twists" in the line of films like The Fugitive and Taken. Early this month, Baldwin's next, Crosshairs, wrapped filming. Another action thriller, the film is directed by Mukunda Michael Dewil. He last played the US President Donald Trump in the Spanish film Torrente for President.

Jack Quaid joins Invincible S5

CE FEATURES

THE Boys fame Jack Quaid has been added to the voice cast of Prime Video's Invincible Season 5. The streamer has also greenlit the sixth season of this hit show. Quaid will lend his voice for Gravitator/Chris in the show. The renewal has made Invincible the longest-running animated series for the streamer.

The announcement was made at the ongoing Annecy Animation Film Festival.

A superhero spoof series created by Robert Kirkman (The Walking Dead), Quaid's role of Gravitator is a gifted engineer who misuses his skills for thievery and turns a new leaf after his encounter with the superhero Invincible. Quaid joins Steven Yeun, who voices Invincible/Mark Grayson, and Sandra Oh and JK Simmons, who voice Invincible's parents Debbie and Nolan.

Popular for his breakout role as Hugh Campbell in the recently concluded series, The Boys, Quaid's feature credits include The Hunger Games (2012), Scream (2022), and Oppenheimer (2023). Last seen in Heads of State (2025), his upcoming feature films include Close Personal Friends.

Thalaivar 173 is titled Dharman

CE FEATURES

THE makers of Rajinikanth's much-anticipated Thalaivar 173 have confirmed that Ashwath Marimuthu is directing the film, which has been titled Dharman. The film stars Simran as the female lead. She is reuniting with Rajinikanth after Karthik Subbaraj's 2019 film, Petta. Raashii Khanna and Yogi Babu are also part of Dharman's star cast. The film is set to go on floors from Thursday.

There was uncertainty about who would helm the project, as Rajinikanth himself said during the film's launch that they first planned to rope in KS Ravikumar, then Sundar C, and later Cibi Chakravarthi. But none of these directors was finalised for various reasons.

Ashwath Marimuthu, meanwhile, tasted success with his last film Dragon, starring Pradeep Ranganathan. Kamal Haasan's Raaj Kamal Films International (RKFI) is backing Dharman. In addition to producing Rajinikanth's next, Kamal is also co-starring with him in a film tentatively titled KH x RK Reunion, helmed by Nelson. Composer Anirudh, cinematographer Niketh Bommi, editor Pradeep E Ragav, and stunt choreographers Anbariv are part of the film's technical team.

Charge Sheet marks veteran actor Sundar Raj's 250th film

Sundar Raj

CE FEATURES

THE makers of Charge Sheet, which marks veteran Kannada actor Sundar Raj's milestone 250th film, released the teaser in a special event. The teaser was unveiled by Jayamala, in presence of Sundar Raj's daughter and actor, Meghana Raj Sarja and producer Rockline Venkatesh among others who wished the team success.

Chief guest Dhruva Sarja praised Sundar Raj's dedication and longevity in cinema, saying talent is the only lasting currency in the industry. He noted that Sundar Raj never takes his work for granted and said his 250-film journey proves his talent and commitment. After watching a song from Charge Sheet, Dhruva said he was eager to see the film and praised the veteran actor's screen presence.

A still from the film

Dhruva also called Udbhava his favourite Sundar Raj film, highlighting his performance alongside Anant Nag. In a lighthearted moment, he requested a role in Sundar Raj's next project and fondly remembered his late brother, Chiranjeevi Sarja, who had plans of working with the veteran actor.

An emotional Sundar Raj thanked those present and praised Jayamala for attending despite her demanding responsibilities. Reflecting on his journey, he revealed that he left a successful family business to pursue theatre, despite its financial challenges, and said destiny led him to acting instead of medicine.

Speaking about Charge Sheet, he said the film, inspired by an incident in JP Nagar, focuses on law enforcement. He also paid tribute to Dr Rajkumar, and urged audiences to support original Kannada films in theatres and reject piracy. He also asserted that there are no small roles in cinema.

Directed by Venkat Bharadwaj, Charge Sheet has received a U/A certificate. Produced under the Arjun Films banner by Dinesh and Lakshman, the film is based on a story by senior police officer SK Umesh. Venkat Bharadwaj has also written the screenplay and dialogues. The cast includes Harsh Arjun, Sathyashree, Amar, Roopesh, Dr Pramod and Dr Sudhakar Shetty. Music and background score are by Sameer Kulkarni, while cinematography is by Pramod Bharatiya.
